Posse Is Hunting For Armed Slayers On Olympic Peninsula

Search For Thugs Who Killed Deputy Sheriff Moves From Chehalis, Wash., to Forks, Near Pacific Ocean

Identification Is Made By Woman

Associated Press
Chehalis, Wash., April 8.

Search for the robber suspects who slew one sheriff's deputy and wounded another near here yesterday shifted to the extreme northwestern tip of Washington state today.

The sheriff's office at Port Angeles informed the sheriff here two men, one apparently wounded and both heavily armed, appeared at a hotel at Forks, Wash., on the Olympic Peninsula, last night, and that they answered descriptions of the fugitives.

A posse was formed to attempt to capture the men in a surprise visit to the hotel.

Forks is about sixty-two miles southwest of Port Angeles, and is in an isolated section of the Peninsula.

CHEHALIS HUNT ENDS
Search in the brushland near Chehalis for the two suspects ended today on orders of state patrol Chief William Cole.

Cole, who sped to the scene from another part of the state yesterday to take charge of a manhunt for the fugitives named by him as Walter Seeler and Claude Ryan, both of Tacoma, ordered his men withdrawn in the belief the bandits, both prison parolees, had escaped from the immediate vicinity.

Most of the night, the posse, aided by a trained bloodhound, had carried on the search for the men who escaped after a gun battle early yesterday in which Sheriff's Deputy R. S. Jackson, Chehalis, Wash., was killed, and J. D. Compton, fifty-one, seriously wounded.

PHOTOS IDENTIFIED
South Bend, Wash., April 8 (Associated Press).—Mrs. Emma Cartier today positively identified Walter Seeler and Claude Ryan, sought for the slaying of Deputy Sheriff R. S. Jackson, Chehalis, Wash., as the two men who early yesterday broke into her home here and robbed her of a sum in cash and bonds.

Shown pictures of the two suspects by Police Judge R. E. Taggart of Aberdeen, Wash., Mrs. Cartier unhesitatingly pronounced them the "right men."

House Speeds To Prorogation

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—In a final drive toward prorogation the House of Commons will sit all day Saturday. Prime Minister King gave notice of a motion today. The fact the motion makes reference only to the one Saturday lends weight to the belief the session will end before another week.

GERMAN TRADE PACT APPROVED

New Canadian Agreement Ratified By Commons After Debate

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—Canada's trade agreement with Germany offers a reasonable basis for the expansion of Canadian trade, Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce, told the House of Commons today.

Despite a protest from Sam Factor (Liberal, Toronto-Spadina), on the ground of the Nazi government's persecution of the Jews, the House voted approval of the pact negotiated by Mr. Euler last autumn. After a morning's discussion the ratifying bill received third reading.

It was too soon to judge the results of the pact, said the minister, but in the first three months of its operation, December, January and Febru-

Berlin Papers Score Austria

Associated Press
Berlin, April 8.—Berlin's newspapers began a concerted attack on Austria today for what they contended was the placing of gendarmes guards at the graves of Chancellor Hitler's parents at Leonding, Austria, and the punishment of a pensioned Austrian official and his wife for placing a wreath there.

DEATH BRINGS COURT CHARGE

Edwin C. Laughlean Arraigned For Manslaughter; W. G. Plowright Killed

Edwin C. Laughlean, 1312 Government Street, was charged with manslaughter in the Provincial Police Court this morning as the result of an accident at the intersection of the Island Highway and Admirals Road last night, in which William George Plowright, sixty-nine, View Royal, was killed.

Laughlean appeared this morning without counsel and was remanded until next Wednesday afternoon in the Provincial Court, without plea. He made no application for bail.

The accident occurred about 9.45 o'clock, and Mr. Plowright succumbed to his injuries at 11.40 o'clock in St. Joseph's Hospital. He suffered a crushed chest and a fracture at the base of the skull.

The accident was attended by Constables P. H. Brown and Gerald Davis of the Provincial Police, who reported Mr. Plowright had just alighted from the Gorge bus, driven by Edward Wilkinson, 1801 Drive, when he was struck by the car.

HIT WHILE WALKING
Mr. Plowright alighted at the bus terminus and was starting to walk along the Island Highway to his home. The Laughlean car was proceeding east on the highway, from Four Mile Hill, and struck Mr. Plowright as it turned into Admirals Road.

Mr. Plowright was rushed to the hospital in the C. & C. Ambulance. He was conscious en route to hospital, but died within two hours of being admitted. Dr. J. H. Moore attended him.

According to police, Miss Florence Anderson, Miss Mildred Penon and Charles Adams, all of 821 Devonshire Road, were passengers in the Laughlean car.

WELL KNOWN HERE
Mr. Plowright had been a resident of Victoria for more than thirty years and was widely known in music circles here. He was born in Tunbridge Wells, England, and before coming to Victoria spent ten years in Saskatchewan.

"His principal interest in the musical world was in boys' bands and stringed instruments. During the war he was in charge of the band at the Naval Barracks."

He is survived by his widow and one son, Charles, at home.

Bishop Acknowledges Greetings With a Smile

Rt. Rev. John C. Cody, new Bishop of Victoria, and the youngest man in Canada to be elevated to that rank, is shown above as he disembarked from Ss. Princess Charlotte yesterday afternoon. Rev. Father Carl Albury is on the left and Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette on the right. After a call at Government House and dinner at the Empress Hotel with visiting church dignitaries and his clergy, Bishop Cody entered St. Andrew's Cathedral for the first time last evening for his installation by Archbishop Duke of Vancouver.

Spain Insurgents Make Apology To British Navy

At Oshawa, Ont., 3,700 On Strike

General Motors Plant Closed; Premier Hepburn Is Expected to Act

Oshawa, Ont., April 8.—More than 3,500 General Motors of Canada workers answered a strike call by the Committee for Industrial Organization today, stopping production of automobiles here in the company's largest plants. Recognition of a C.I.O.-sponsored union is the issue.

"This is just an old-fashioned walkout," said C. H. Millard, chairman of a shop committee which negotiated with company officials three days this week. "Sit-down strikes have been recognized as legal in the United States, but both federal and provincial governments in Canada hold them illegal."

PICKET LINES
Millard estimated 3,700 workers entered the plants at 7 o'clock this morning, punched time clocks and walked out again. Union leaders organized picket lines.

Between 200 and 400 non-union members were left in various departments. Pickets made no attempt to prevent office employees going to work.

COMPANY STATEMENT
Refusal of General Motors of Canada to adopt an agreement similar to the "Detroit agreement" preceded the strike here today, James B. Highfield, General Motors plant general manager, said in a statement.

"The present unfortunate turn of events has been precipitated on the authority of a visiting organizer of the United Automobile Workers," the statement said.

Highfield said progress had been made at conferences with shop committee representatives towards meeting demands of workers and he added the company was "at all times willing to negotiate points of the American union's demands if they had an application in the Oshawa plant."

London, April 8.—The British cruiser Shropshire, accompanied by the destroyer Gallant, today collected an apology from the Spanish insurgent authorities at Mallorca for the bombing of the destroyer Gallant. The insurgents explained the bombing was a regrettable error.

The Gallant twice was attacked by insurgent aircraft on Tuesday while proceeding from Valencia to Alicante. On each occasion she opened fire on the attacking aircraft, whose bombs fell from 100 to 400 yards from the destroyer.

The Shropshire and the Gallant arrived at Palma, Mallorca, last night. The captain of the Shropshire, accompanied by the British vice-consul, called on the port admiral and Col.

Funds For Airports Across Dominion

Supplementary Estimates Tabled in Commons Today Include $1,415,000 For Aviation Extensions

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—Supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1938, amounting to $11,339,866 were tabled by Finance Minister C. A. Dunning in the House of Commons today. Of this amount the largest single item is $3,000,000 to take care of the restored 5 per cent salary cuts in the civil service.

The estimates show construction of airways, airports and radio stations throughout Canada is scheduled to be continued on a big scale this year. For that purpose $915,000 is provided. The chain of emergency landing fields across the Dominion is almost completed, with fully equipped stations at the principal points on the route. The money will be devoted to speeding up construction operations in view of the projected initiation on the trans-Atlantic air service this year.

AID FOR CITIES
In addition to the above sum, the civil aviation branch is down for another vote of $500,000. This is to be

Troops Near Cordoba Link Up; New Threat to Franco's Headquarters

Associated Press
Madrid, April 8.—Government troops advancing on Cordoba joined forces late today with allies from Badajoz province on the west, closing a gap in war lines and threatening the insurgent southern field headquarters of Seville.

A dispatch to the newspaper Claridad reported government militiamen had occupied Villaharta, strategic position dominating communications in Cordoba province.

The front lines were still about seventy miles from Seville, but the alliance of two military groups materially strengthened the government's position in the sector 150 miles southwest of Madrid, in the heart of rich coal fields and important mercury mines.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—The new permanent force quarters at Calgary will be named the Currie Barracks. It was announced today by Hon. Ian MacKenzie, National Defence Minister.

The new buildings are named in tribute to the late Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, whose home was in Victoria, B.C., and who commanded the Canadian Corps during the last two years of the Great War.

Investigator Submits His Findings Why Mine Shares Crashed on B.C. Exchange

NO FRAUD SEEN BY GARRETT

Superintendent of Brokers Submits Comments on Hedley Mine Report

The report of G. L. Fraser on Hedley Amalgamated mine stock slump "does not appear to disclose any actual offense or fraud in trading unless there were 'wash' sales on the part of the brokers who acted both as principals and brokers," according to H. G. Garrett, B.C. Superintendent of Brokers, whose comments upon the report were released by Premier Pattullo today.

After an analysis of the various findings of the commissioner relative to the stock operations and the position of the company, Mr. Garrett in a departmental report to the Premier as Attorney-General, says in part:

"Mr. Fraser's report does not find or suggest any offence, because that is not within his sphere as an investigator."

"The course of trading in Hedley shares is what usually happens when good news is coming out about a particular property and the stock begins to be active."

"The public were very large participants and no doubt the stock went too high and rose too quickly. The rapid rise, too, was accelerated by the dealings by the brokers themselves. There was undoubtedly in the market activity a considerable element of gambling; but on the other hand the opinion began to be held that the stock had reached the stage when it might be regarded as a promising investment."

WANTS FRASER'S OPINION

"The report does not appear to disclose any actual offence or fraud in trading unless there were 'wash' sales on the part of the brokers who acted as principals and brokers. I think Mr. Fraser's opinion on the subject of 'wash' sales should be obtained. The report does not seem to contain any evidence of deliberate manipulation by any particular broker or interest, or any evidence of any conspiracy to defraud."

Remove Bodies From Air Liner

Associated Press
McNary, Ariz., April 8.—Litters of aspen branches were fashioned today for eight charred bodies by shivering men who had stood guard all night on the mountainside where a luxurious twenty-one-passenger skyliner crashed into the snow and burned last Saturday.

Undertakers began the task of placing the victims, two women and six men, on sleds and bringing them down a tortuous seven-mile journey over steep hills, down snow-clogged ravines and across rushing streams.

C. C. Cole, an official of the Douglas Aircraft Corporation, said removal could not be completed before nightfall and might require two days.

The plane was bound for Kansas City on the way to New York when it met disaster.

G. L. Fraser Reports Brokerage Company Was Told Hedley Cores "Salted" and General Public Selling Followed; Two Stockholders Sold Large Holdings, He Says

Trading Methods Draw Comment

In Seven Weeks 2,574,800 Shares of Hedley Stock Were Traded; Further Reports to Come When Tests at Mine Finished

The interim report of Commissioner G. L. Fraser on his investigation into the sharp slump in the shares of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Ltd. stock on the Vancouver Stock Exchange on February 23 last was made public this morning by Premier Pattullo, K.C. It deals only with the market operations in the stock and does not touch the question of values at the mine itself. Accompanying the report the Premier released comments submitted by H. G. Garrett, Superintendent of Brokers.

The Premier said that when the final report of Mr. Fraser was submitted appropriate action would be taken and the public fully informed.

Mr. Fraser explains, at the outset of his thirty-page report, that he examined all trading in Hedley shares between January 7 and February 23, when it was suspended by the Vancouver Stock Exchange. The stock fluctuated between a low of 20 cents and a high of $1 during this period, and 2,574,800 shares were traded. He lists the twenty-eight brokers who traded the shares and the amounts handled by each.

In addition nine brokerage houses in Victoria handled shares, but these sales went through exchange members in Vancouver.

"My scrutiny of the trading was particularly directed to discover whether any director or other person likely to have inside knowledge, either directly or indirectly, had bought or sold shares of the Hedley Company in considerable volume," the commissioner says in his report.

WHO MADE SALES
Mr. Fraser says the conclusions he reached from an examination of the "sale" confirmations covering the 2,574,800 shares, with certain exceptions, that a large proportion of such sales were made by the general public.

The exceptions mentioned by Mr. Fraser are that sales were made by some of the directors of the Hedley Company, that sales were made by Hugh J. Davis and George Norgan, two directors of the Burrard Stock and Bond Limited, who had participated in the underwriting of the earlier issue of the Hedley Company, and that sales in large volumes were made by various brokers, who are members of the exchange, for their own "house" accounts.

The commissioner then gives a complete list of sales in Hedley stock on the exchange on February 23, totaling 309,150 shares, before trading was suspended.

He continues: "It is not difficult to come to a conclusion as to the cause of the serious break in the market with respect to the shares of the Hedley Company on February 23."

"First, by 9 a.m. Mr. (Frank) Parsons (director of the Hedley Company) had told Mr. Hurrell of the Western City Company that the Hedley Company's core sample had been 'salted.' Mr. Hurrell at once interviewed Mr. Williams, the Hedley Company's assayer, and learned that there were grave suspicions that such was the case. Thereupon salesmen of the Western City Company telephoned to their numerous customers holding such shares, and large blocks were liquidated through different brokers."

"I am not suggesting that this selling by these customers initiated the crash. The evidence is that the rumor that all was not right at the mine was generally prevalent on the 'street' and no doubt caused considerable selling by many owners of the shares."

LARGE BLOCKS
"Second, Hugh Davis, a director and substantial shareholder of the Burrard Stock and Bond Limited, telephoned his broker, Mr. Borrie of Pemberton and Son (Vancouver) Limited, and told him to liquidate all his holdings. Mr. Davis's holdings amounted to 72,700 shares. Mr. Davis says he decided to sell upon no information received from any director of Burrard Stock and Bond Limited or from the Hedley Company, and made no inquiries from anyone who was close to the operations of the company, but acted purely on rumor. He succeeded in selling 20,000 shares over the floor of the exchange before trading was suspended. Incidentally, he continued to 'trade' off the floor after (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Social Credit Experts Sought

Board to Be Appointed By Alberta Legislature May Visit Various Parts of World in Search

By GEORGE FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Edmonton, April 8.—A world-wide search for technical experts for appointment to the commission that will administer a Social Credit programme in Alberta may be instituted if a five-man board, to be appointed from members of the Legislature, deems it necessary.

A bill before the Legislature, in the name of Premier Aberhart, distributed today, would give wide powers to the board. Under it the board or any one member might visit any part of the world, if desired, to study administration methods or to select commissioners.

As approved by the house, G. L. MacLachlan, M.P.P. for Coronation, will be the board chairman and F. M. Baker, Clover Bar, secretary. Other members will be J. L. McPherson, Vegreville; W. E. Hayes, Stony Plain; and S. A. Berg, Alexandria. All are Social Credit members of the Legislature.

The purpose of the bill is to "impose order-in-council administration of the Social Credit Measures Act, 1936, and place its operation under the direction of the commission."

The commission would consist of three to five members, each with power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents in any investigation, the same as a commissioner appointed under the Public Inquiries Act.

Hedley Stock Probe Report Released

Trading was suspended and eventually finished with a 'short position' of 15,700 shares. He stated that this assumption of a short position was accidental, as he intended to sell the shares of Mr. George Morgan, who is associated with him, and when he found that Mr. Morgan had sold all his shares as well, he assumed the position himself. It should be added that Mr. Davis did all his selling through the name of Mrs. Borrie, and Mr. Borrie of Pemberton and Son stated that he takes full responsibility for the use of the name and he received no authority from Mr. Davis to trade in that name. The natural conclusion is, however, that it was used to conceal the identity of Mr. Davis.

Thirdly, Mr. Davis telephoned Mr. Morgan at the time he decided to sell his shares and forthwith Mr. Morgan gave instructions to Genser de Leon Investments Limited to liquidate all his holdings. He stated it was approximately 9:30 to 10 a.m. when Mr. Davis telephoned to him. He owned on this day 75,500 shares and succeeded in selling only 10,700 over the floor of the exchange. After trading was suspended he sold the balance of his holdings together with 4,500 shares in addition, which left him also in a 'short' position of 4,900 shares.

Mr. Fraser then reports that 113,900 of the 369,150 shares traded on the exchange on February 23 were disposed of from six sources, as follows: Western City Company, 65,200 shares; Hugh Davis, 20,000 shares; George Morgan, 10,700 shares; Burielgh and Partners Limited, 4,900 shares; J. R. Chalmers Ltd., 3,700 shares; and D. A. Hamilton and Co. Ltd., 9,400 shares, the last three being house accounts.

FOURTHLY, continues the report, "the shares of the Hedley Company had shown some weakness on the day preceding. There had been substantial selling on that day, reference to which is made later on in my report. On the evening of that day customers of brokers who were carrying shares on margin had been called on to furnish more margin, and the evidence before me is that further demands were made on the morning of the twenty-third for additional margin. Such action caused further general selling, which would be accentuated by the rumors abroad.

"All the above factors combined with the sharp advance which the stock enjoyed only a few days previously sufficiently explain, in my opinion, the drastic break in the market. "In the course of my investigation, it was suggested that the proper action which the stock exchange should have taken was to cancel all trades on that day. Of course, it would have been a simple matter for it to ascertain who were the principal sellers, and that some of these sellers were in a position to have 'inside' information or information not in the public's hands respecting the allegations about the company's assets. The view has been put forward that it is inequitable that Messrs. Davis, Morgan and the customers of the Western City Company should be in a position to liquidate their shares at the expense of the public. If the events justified a suspension of trading, the contention is that they also justified total cancellation of all trades. If, after such a step were taken, anyone wished to buy or sell, he would do so with full knowledge of the position of the exchange and at his peril."

Mr. Fraser then gives a list of all trading on February 22, the day before the crash. The trades totaled 50,650 shares. The sellers of large blocks were: D. A. Hamilton & Co. (house account), 12,900 shares; S. & S. Syndicate (house account), 3,000 shares; Continental Securities (house account), 5,000 shares.

Between February 11 and February 22, when Hedley was selling from 80 cents to $1, a total of 419,000 shares were traded. About one-quarter of the total 67,700 shares were sold by the following: Frank Parsons, director, 5,000 shares; D. A. Hamilton (house account), 61,400 shares; Burielgh & Co. (house account), 8,100 shares; Continental Securities (house account), 10,300 shares.

"On the whole, selling appears to have been selling by the general public," the commissioner states.

"These figures show that about 20 per cent of the selling was for their 'house accounts,' together with sales by directors."

SALES BY DIRECTORS

Mr. Fraser then details the buying and selling of Hedley stock by the following directors of the company, along with their explanations of the sales:

Frank Parsons who bought 8,000 shares at 15 cents and 50,000 at 20 cents on various dates and sold the following lots between January 12 and February 20: 3,000 at 43 cents, 3,000 at 44 cents, 2,000 at 44 cents, 4,000 at 75 cents and 1,000 at 75 cents, or a total of 13,000 shares sold.

J. Y. McCarter, who bought 5,000 at 15 cents in 1934 and 100,000 at 19 cents in December, 1936, and sold 10,000 shares at 42 cents and 5,000 at 87 cents.

J. E. Buerk, who bought 7,500 shares at prices ranging from 15 cents to 98 cents and sold 1,000 at 82 cents, the commissioner explaining that the sale was put through without Mr. Buerk's instructions from a joint account.

J. A. Robinson bought 3,000 shares on February 20 and 22. His sales amounted to 3,500 between January 28 and February 23.

TRADING IN HOUSE ACCOUNTS

The commissioner next summarizes the trading in "house accounts" of six Vancouver brokerage firms, showing their long or short position each day from late in 1935 up to the time of the crash.

He continues:

"The heavy trading by brokers for their own accounts, as disclosed, by these statements, raises questions which are of serious concern to the public.

"Business men and brokers themselves who are confining activities to a strictly brokerage business are in accord that steps should be taken by the Vancouver Stock Exchange or by the government to check the abuses which are bound to arise by reason of the practice.

He summarizes these as follows: (a) "In and out" trading by brokers (which costs them no commission or merely a nominal commission) creates a false appearance of activity "in the market." It is usually the first step in a "manipulative manoeuvre."

(b) A broker who is trading both for himself and a customer is in a position to accept a purchase for himself if it is beneficial, or to confirm the purchase to his customer if it is not. No other trustee which I know of is allowed in these days to occupy such a position.

METHODS OF FINANCING

Mr. Fraser next deals with the methods used to raise funds for the Hedley Company, and criticizes reports which were issued dealing with the ore reserves.

After commenting on the qualifications and status of William Cox, mine superintendent at Hedley, and W. S. Bacon, engineer, Mr. Fraser's report refers to signed reports about the progress of the mine as follows: "Mr. Bacon, in one of these, which he concedes to be false, states that the company had at that time half a million tons of commercial ore. Such a statement was absolutely false and in the opinion of two competent mining engineers is purely visionary in the present stage of development. Mr. Bacon, who admittedly based his report on information furnished by the mine superintendent, is in my opinion, deserving of censure. Of course this statement of extravagant tonnage was published and was the inducing cause of many innocent people being victimized."

Mr. Fraser then lists the various sales of stock in the promotion of the company. "I think particular attention should be given to the practice of disposing of 'option' shares through the facilities provided by the Vancouver Stock Exchange. An exchange should be a market place where an owner of securities is able to find a ready buyer for the same, and where the price of a security is determined by the legitimate demand and the supply on hand," the report continues.

"Once an exchange permits its brokers to 'unload' option shares to the public, or in other words, once it permits its facilities to be used for the purpose of distributing shares in order that money may be raised for the company leasing the securities, its functions cease. Moreover, the door is at once opened to unethical dealings. The broker is tempted to spread all favorable reports about the property and suppress the rest. He is tempted to create an interest in the shares by 'in and out' trading, or fictitious trades. If he is closely associated with the company from whom he obtained his option, he obtains all 'inside' information long before it reaches the shareholders and is thus in a position to take an unfair advantage at the expense of the shareholders and the public."

The commissioner then makes an analysis of the Hedley company's position. Russell Barker, president of the company, was also a director of Burrard Stock and Bond Co. Ltd. Mr. Barker largely conducted the financing operations of the company.

Referring to promotion and trading practices, the commissioner says: "I feel that the Vancouver Stock Exchange has not fully appreciated the abuses which arise from these practices. A part of the evidence of Mr. A. E. Sprague, the secretary of the exchange, read as follows: "The committee instructed Mr. Hendrie (assistant secretary) to obtain information and all communications were to be sent to him in confidential envelopes and nobody had seen them except Mr. Hendrie. It was understood then the whole thing was to be kept under lock and key by him, not even exposed to the committee."

"Such procedure, as the above quotation suggests, if it were intended to cover an investigation, does appear to be quite ineffective."

"One eminent authority has condensed his views on the above matters in a short paragraph, basing his conclusions on the research findings of the 'Security Markets Survey Staff' appointed by the Twentieth Century Fund Incorporated, to investigate the New York market:

"Floor trading and 'in and out' trading by brokers to stimulate the market should be banned. Speculation, manipulation, investors' ignorance and disregard of trust relationships by those whom the laws should regard as fiduciaries are all a single seamless web, and immediate and effective steps should be taken to see that these conditions are rectified. There is plenty of room for legitimate speculation in the balance of investment demand and supply, in the shrewd prognostication of future trends and economic directions; but the accentuation of temporary fluctuations and the deliberate introduction of mob psychology into the speculative markets by the fanfare of organized manipulation and false information menace the true functioning of the exchange. As a matter of fact all 'professional' trading and any such step which seeks to bring about a change in price of a security through manipulation or a conscious marking up of prices is 'illegitimate' and should be branded as such insofar as it lessens the efficiency of an exchange in the performance of its true functions."

Mr. Fraser concludes: "I will report later upon the question of the company's assets, its titles to its mineral claims, drilling and engineers' reports. Pending completion of the work by Mr. R. H. Stoward, I feel my final comments on these matters should be reserved."

NO FRAUD SEEN BY GARRETT

"Various practices disclosed by the report are obviously open to criticism, and probably require modification, reform or elimination. The practice of trading by the brokers for their own accounts is a big problem, and has been the subject of exhaustive investigation by the Securities Exchange Commission under the 'Securities Exchange Act' of the United States. I have been furnished with a copy of this report which deals with the subject in all its phases. In short, the problem is the segregation of the broker from the dealer. This term 'dealer' including a broker who acts as a principal for his own account.

"Then the practice of shares under option being sold by subterfuge across the exchange is, under present conditions, not in the public interest. It is recognized in all professions and in many other situations in life, that it is difficult (if not impossible) for any person to occupy positions where there is a conflict of interest and duty; even if the occupant is absolutely honest, it is difficult for him to avoid being prejudiced or biased in favor of one interest rather than another.

"These practices are not unlawful, but are not in the public interest. How far they can be remedied or controlled by legislation or regulatory action is a question which cannot be answered off-hand."

The government defenders awaited reinforcements of men and airplanes, believed to be en route from Madrid.

Bayonne, France, April 8.—Basque reports from the Bilbao front tonight told of the slaughter of a brigade of Moorish insurgent cavalrymen, mowed down by government machine guns in the Mount Urquiola sector south-east of Bilbao.

"Row upon row" of hard riding Moors were cut to pieces, the reports stated, when Basque militiamen rose to meet a cavalry charge with machine gun bullets.

SIX TANKS CAPTURED

Insurgent tanks which flanked the dread Moors' charge were reported blasted out with hand grenades. Six of the lumbering war machines were captured.

The charge repulsed, government troops began a counter-attack which resulted in a gain of nearly a mile of ground.

Several squadrons of heavy bombing and fast pursuit planes arrived at Bilbao from the Spanish government seat at Valencia to aid in defending the beleaguered Basque capital from the insurgent attack.

ITALIAN CHARGES

Associated Press

Rome, April 8.—The authoritative Giornale d'Italia opened a new attack on Soviet Russia and France today, charging Russia is shipping war materials to Spain and sending submarines and cruisers to Spanish waters.

The newspaper's editor, Virginio Gayda, who repeatedly has charged violation of the "hands off Spain" agreement by both Soviet Russia and France, declared a Soviet general army staff had been organized at Toulouse, France, to superintend arms shipments to Spain.

Premier Mussolini meanwhile was due to get first-hand information on the Spanish situation from Roberto Cantalupo, Rome's ambassador to the Spanish insurgent regime, who arrived in Rome yesterday from Spain.

For maintenance and construction of radio direction finding stations, radio beacons and other features, $75,000 is being appropriated additional to the two other items.

FOR TRANSPORT DEPARTMENT

Among appropriations for other purposes the Department of Transport will receive $1,115,890 covering a variety of items, while monies for the Defence Department total $875,500. Of that figure $840,500 is for engineer services and works.

Added requirements of the Agriculture Department, including $300,000 for provincial resettlement, amount to $783,850; public works, $574,500; fisheries, $515,000; mines and resources, $455,000, and pensions and national health, $250,000.

SUMS FOR PROVINCES

Temporary grants to Manitoba and Saskatchewan amount for $2,260,000. This is divided $1,500,000 to Saskatchewan and $760,000 to Manitoba.

Franco, commander of the air force in Mallorca.

Insurgent authorities explained that prior to the bombing of the Gallant they had received a report from a seaplane that Spanish Government destroyers were in the waters through which the Gallant was passing. On receiving the report the insurgents sent out three land planes with the intention of bombing the Spanish destroyers.

UNFORTUNATE MISTAKE

The insurgents said it was conceivable their land planes had "unfortunately" mistaken the Gallant for a Spanish Government destroyer. A message also was conveyed from the military governor of Mallorca expressing "very great regret if it were found that national aircraft were to blame for the episode."

Meanwhile, Colonel Franco has undertaken to issue instructions to his aircraft that great care shall be taken in future in examining identity marks on any craft in these waters before proceeding to take hostile action against them.

Canadian Press

London, April 8.—Since January 1 British defence departments have placed orders with German firms through British agents amounting to about $62,000 ($310,000). In addition orders of approximately $168,000 ($840,000) have been placed in Germany for the so-called shadow factories.

It is explained that the machines ordered from Germany by the government are of a special class which could be delivered at an earlier date than they could be obtained from firms in the United Kingdom.

NEW SOCIAL BILLS STUDIED

Commons Learns Unemployment Insurance May Be Debated at Next Session

Ottawa, April 8.—The Dominion Government is "most anxious" to get on with unemployment insurance and other forms of social legislation, and is giving the question careful consideration. Between now and the next session of Parliament the matter will receive further study in the light of the recent Privy Council decisions holding the legislation of 1935 ultra vires.

Prime Minister King gave this assurance to the House of Commons yesterday evening in reply to a question from A. A. Heaps, C.C.P., Winnipeg North, as an item of $40,000 to provide for the Employment and Social Insurance Commission, was dropped from the estimates. The commission has been disbanded.

More than $35,000,000 of the main estimates were approved by the House.

STEAMSHIP PAYMENTS
A review of all steamship subventions was promised by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, as the estimates for the subventions were approved. Mr. Euler said in principle he was opposed to subsidies and believed they should be granted only in exceptional circumstances.

Religious Liberty Plea of New Bishop

PORTRAIT FOR PRESS GALLERY

Ottawa, April 8.—In the presence of Prime Minister King, members of the cabinet, Conservative Leader R. B. Bennett and other Parliamentarians, a portrait was unveiled in the Press Gallery yesterday of the late Harry Anderson, former managing editor of The Toronto Globe. The unveiling was performed by T. L. Church, Conservative member for Toronto-Broadview.

The painting by Sir Wyly Grier was the gift of the Good Fellowship Club of Toronto, and was formally presented by Ben Miller on behalf of that organization.

Brief addresses recalling the human virtues and journalistic capabilities of Mr. Anderson were delivered by Premier King, Mr. Bennett, Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe, Senator Arthur Meighen and Senator George F. Gahagan.

The portrait was accepted on behalf of the gallery by Norman M. MacLeod, president.

The late Harry Anderson, as Ottawa correspondent of The Globe, was for years a member of the Press Gallery.

Rt. Rev. John C. Cody, in Installation at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Says Separated Brethren Among His Greatest Friends

All the ancient pomp and ceremony of the Church of Rome was called upon in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday evening, when, before a congregation that packed every corner of the edifice, Rt. Rev. John C. Cody was formally installed as Bishop of Victoria by Most Rev. W. M. Duke, Archbishop of Vancouver and Metropolitan.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, attended by Major Vincent McKenna, A.D.C., occupied a special seat just outside the altar rails, while in the front pews were Premier Pattullo and members of his cabinet, members of the B.C. Legislature, Mayor A. McGavin and members of the City Council, representatives of the navy, the army and the air force and leaders in Victoria of the judiciary, professional and commercial life.

Bishop Cody walked from the Bishop's Palace on View Street, to the main doors of the cathedral, attended by a retinue of scarlet-cloaked bishops, priests in their black and white vestments and acolytes. He walked down the main aisle under a canopy of white and gold and knelt before the High Altar, ablaze with lighted tapers, later being led to his throne by Archbishop Duke, who occupied another throne on the opposite side of the sanctuary. The papal colors of yellow and white were reflected in the dais and the high altar. Papal flags hung from the pillars.

THE PAPAL BULL
From the main pulpit, Rev. Father A. B. Wood read the Papal Bull of Appointment in Latin and in English. Rev. Father Beeton, the administrator read an address of welcome to the new bishop, in which he referred to the historic see of Victoria and said in many ways it was still a missionary diocese. Clergy of the diocese paid individual homage to the new bishop, kneeling before him on his throne and kissing the episcopal ring.

In his brief address Bishop Cody thanked the people of Victoria for the warm welcome extended to him. He stood in full vestments, mitre on his head and his gold sceptre of authority in his hand.

"Let my first words be words of sincere gratitude," he said. "They are words of gratitude to each and every one of you, for as I knelt in prayer in far-away Ottawa I felt the prayers of you in Victoria coming to me. I feel ever any priest never expected to be called to the heights of the episcopacy I was that one. I need the help of each and every one of my priests, and of you, my people. 'You have had wonderful prelates here in Victoria and yet God has called them away from you, just as your hearts became most firmly attached to them. I was called away myself, just when I was becoming attached to my people, so I know some thing of the disappointment you have suffered.'

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY
"I take special delight in noting His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor here tonight. I think we should be especially proud in these troublesome times to know the British flag is still a symbol of civic and religious liberty. 'I am also glad to see here our brethren from across the line, for it is not true we provide the world's greatest example of peace and friendship. I take delight in knowing there are some separated brethren here, for I have always numbered them among my greatest and closest friends. 'I think we should all extend to one another the hand of friendship, for while our ways in life may sometimes be different, we all mean the same. 'I cannot face alone the task that lies before me, and so I ask your help.'

Bishop Cody referred to Victoria as a "terrestrial paradise," and hoped, with goodwill it would become a spiritual paradise.

Bishop M. M. Johnson of Nelson said in his sermon of Bishop Cody, "God has enriched him with gifts and endowed him with brilliant talents."

He referred to how he had endeared himself to his Ottawa congregation.

NOW AT HOME
"This night he succeeds the pious prelates of yesterday. This night he is at home. May his reign be fruitful unto the Lord."

He asked obedience for the new bishop. Obedience, he said was the very foundation of the "ever-expanding body of Christ. Disobedience makes for division. Dissension is always borne along on the wings of disobedience.

"Through him the Apostles' Creed will become your creed. Among the gifts God gave to man were the Apostles.

"Every soul created by God is destined to perfection. The road of perfection is the road of grace. There is only one evil destruction of grace and that is sin."

"The first office of a bishop, then, is to assist the faithful in their journey to perfection. A bishop is the interpreter of Peter. It is his duty to teach what Christ commanded and to teach what Peter taught."

SPENT BUSY DAY
The full choir of the cathedral, under Arthur Cownden, attended, with Miss Marguerite McKay at the organ. Arrangements for the installation were in the efficient hands of Rev. Father A. B. Wood, pastor of the

King's Birthday Events June 9

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—The birthday of George VI will be celebrated in Canada, as in Britain, on June 9, the Governor-General-in-Council has decided. Word to that effect was communicated yesterday to the Lieutenant-Governors of the provinces.

While His Majesty was born December 14, the example of his grandfather, Edward VII, is being followed by celebrating the monarch's birthday in the summer season, so the public may better enjoy the holiday.

The birthdays of the last two monarchs, George V and Edward VIII, were celebrated on their natal days, June 3 and June 23, respectively.

Victoria Boy Wins Limerick

Royland Tubb of Harriet Road Gets Prize in Foxy Contest

By V. T. HAMLIN
Artist Who Draws "Alley Oop"

If you think reading over hundreds and hundreds of last lines to "Foxy Limericks" each week is fun, you're absolutely right. No fooling! I'm thoroughly enjoying it. . . and the folks whom I had to call in to give me a lift are getting a kick out of it, too.

I've read so many limericks and last lines during the past few weeks that I'm beginning to talk in rhyme. In a couple more weeks I'll be eating and sleeping in rhyme.

The fourth "Foxy Limerick" . . . one about Oop being a good sort of a guy . . . brought to me about the best batch of last lines thus far. Folks are swinging into shape. But it's making the winner-picking job a tough one. The better the lines, the harder it is to decide on the best three.

However, I asked for it . . . so go ahead and make it tough for me. I'll do my part and send an original sketch of Alley Oop, Foxy and Dinney, each week, to the writers of the three last lines that strike me as just a bit better than all the others.

Here are the winners for that fourth "Foxy Limerick":
Joan Rider, 1202 South 5th, Chickasha, Okla.
Henry Petersen, 37 Malbone Road, Newport, R.I.
Royland Tubb, 3174 Harriet Road, Victoria, B.C.

They wrote what I considered the best last lines, and I have mailed their prizes to them.

Sorry you couldn't have won . . . but don't let the fact that you didn't discourage you. Try again! And watch for my next story, naming the three who wrote the best last lines for the limerick about Foxy popping King Gus right over the head.

PYTHIAN HEAD VISITS CITY

Supreme Chancellor Jones
Will Be in Victoria Tomorrow

Supreme Chancellor Fred H. Jones of Los Angeles, California, will pay a visit to Victoria tomorrow evening, and will address members of the Pythian Order in the Knights of Pythian Hall, Broad Street, at a meeting which will convene at 8 o'clock. Pythian Knights from all of the Vancouver Island lodges will be in attendance.

The Supreme Chancellor will be accompanied by Grand Chancellor W. W. Johnson of Powell River, in addition to other Grand Lodge officials from Vancouver and other points.

All Knights, past and present, are invited to the gathering, which will be presided over by Lodge Deputy Grand Chancellor J. W. Casey. A dinner in honor of the visitor will be held at the Empress Hotel before the evening meeting.

Supreme Chancellor Jones, after having traveled through all the states south of the border and the Canadian provinces, announces that there is renewed activity and unbounded interest in the order.

Church of Our Lady, Queen of Peace, at Esquimalt.

Bishop Cody spent a busy day yesterday. He crossed from Vancouver to Victoria by the regular steamer, and was greeted at the Belleville Street docks by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, representing Premier Pattullo, a large group of priests and many of the Catholic laity. He drove from the docks to the Bishop's Palace in a government car, flying the Union Jack and the Papal ensign, and escorted by two motorcycle police.

At 4:30 o'clock he called on His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at Government House and at 6 o'clock was present at the dinner to visiting bishops and priests at the Empress Hotel.

TODAY'S PROGRAMME
This morning the Sisters and the pupils of St. Ann's Academy paid their respects to Bishop Cody at an interesting ceremony at the Humboldt Street convent. The bishop was accompanied by visiting church dignitaries and members of his clergy.

Following the programme he crossed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was present at luncheon.

This evening at 8 o'clock members of the Catholic laity of the city and surrounding districts will be given an opportunity to personally meet Bishop Cody at a reception being arranged in his honor by the Knights of Columbus in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

Theatre Discussed From Many Angles

Nine Speakers Review Drama of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow at Opening Session of Annual Conference in Empress Hotel

The theatre, past, present and future, in almost all its phases came in for more than three hours of discussion by nine speakers at the opening session of the Pacific Drama Conference in the Duke of Kent room of the Empress Hotel last night.

Dr. T. A. Rickard presided. The evolution of tragedy and comedy in France from the companies of traveling jugglers of the dark ages up to the advanced experimental performance of today was reviewed by Madame E. Sanderson-Mongin.

Mme. Sanderson showed how the classical comedy of Moliere and of all the others who, though disowning him, derived from him, had its roots in the Italian Comedia Dell'Arte, which in turn followed the mysteries and moralities staged by the church in the Middle Ages. She pointed to the growth of the formalized French tragedy out of the Greek drama, with Corneille as its chief exponent, and told how Victor Hugo finally broke the bonds of the classic unities which had restricted the drama from its beginnings in France up to 1830.

FOURTH DIMENSION
A picture of a new theatre trying to keep in step with and lead the broadening of human consciousness by penetrating into the new conceptions of the relationship of space and time was painted by Harry Tauber of Vienna in an address entitled "Theatre of Tomorrow—Fourth Dimensional."

Mr. Tauber showed that the theatre, from the time of the early Greeks, when the audience sat around the actors and received a sense of their mass and substance, through the separation of spectator and spectacle in the Baroque and standard stage, to its latest developments in the form of action moving past the audience in time and space, had kept abreast of the changing intellectual functions and attitudes of each period.

The writing of monologues was briefly reviewed by Mrs. Olive W. Molt of Seattle, who illustrated her address with a recitation of her own composition. She termed the monologue "the small child of the play family," and gave as its purpose to make people think by making them laugh.

GREEK DRAMA
The manner in which the Greeks produced the first theatre and the best of all tradition without any intellectual heritage was told by Dr. H. B. King, technical adviser to the provincial Department of Education. After tracing the growth of the drama from the "goat songs" of the Dionysian revels to the high plane to which Aeschylus raised it, he explained that the Greeks introduced an intellectual quality into the theatre at its very beginnings by forming it around ethical problems which involved mental conflict.

The hope that the theatre would come back to the people and that it would create in a new generation an awareness of human realities was expressed by Miss Margaret W. Stevenson of Wenatchee, Wash. Miss Stevenson spoke of her experience in teaching the essence of the theatre to high school pupils who were "movie-fed and glamour-stricken."

DANGER OF HOLLYWOOD
As a result of her work, she believed that adolescents did have a trustworthy basic reaction to human situations, but that in the United States they lacked a sufficient background and that their outlook was confused by the dominance of Hollywood in American life.

Results achieved by the civic theatre of Portland were outlined by Miss Dorothy Clifford of that city. The theatre there had grown to a membership of 1,000 in the seven years of its existence and operated a school of dramatics whose course was now recognized for university credit. Tryouts for parts in the civic theatre's plays were open to anyone who wished to apply.

A new era for playwrights, and one in which the spirit and history of Canada would have a large part, was foreseen by Mrs. Muriel Wammanaker of Seattle. The drama, she said, was at present facing the fact of a mental awakening and expansion of thought on the part of its audiences.

ART TO ASHCAN
"Throw art in the ashcan—entertainment is the object of all plays," was the advice given by Ernest P. Chester of Hollywood to young actors and playwrights, in the course of a cynical address on "The Little Theatre."

Mostly from the Professional Angle. Success in the legitimate theatre could only be attained through experience, and with the death of the stock companies and the road show the little theatre was the only place left to obtain it, he said. However, the little theatre, which had suffered from a plethora of praise and social arse, must be changed if it were to be of any real use.

"Hollywood is looking for you, but it will not find you if you are buried in Shaw or Ibsen," he said.

PSYCHOLOGY AND ACTING
Acting should be taught by a down-to-earth and simple explanation of psychology, without any great emphasis on art, which should come through the acting, not be forced into it. Kierulff Wolfe, dramatic director of the Studio Theatre of the University of Washington and an adjudicator at the British Columbia Drama Festival, said in the concluding address of the meeting.

Mr. Wolfe spoke especially of the renaissance of acting art since 1900, largely through the application of psychology by the Moscow Art

NO ASSISTANCE FOR ALBERTA

Aberhart Studies Bank of Canada Report That Interest Cut Renders Temporary Financial Aid From Dominion Unnecessary; Commission to Inquire

Canadian Press
Edmonton, April 8.—Until he has had time to study the report of the Bank of Canada on Alberta finances, Premier Aberhart will withhold comment, according to an intimation from him today.

The Premier received a wire summary of the report, but did not make an immediate study of its findings. The report found Alberta was not in need of temporary financial assistance from the Dominion pending the findings of the royal commission on taxation.

For two weeks members of the staff of the Bank of Canada were in Edmonton investigating the province's financial position. Graham Towers, governor of the bank, also visited Edmonton, staying here for thirty-six hours. He returned to Ottawa last Friday night.

TABLED IN COMMONS
Ottawa, April 8.—Alberta's interest reduction legislation will block the province from obtaining temporary financial assistance from the Dominion pending the findings of the Royal Commission on Taxation, if the government accepts the advice of Governor Graham Towers of the Bank of Canada.

Finance Minister Dunning tabled in the House of Commons a 12,000-word report on Alberta's financial position.

based on an inquiry requested by Premier Aberhart. It was the third investigation by the bank into the finances of the prairie provinces and the first that did not recommend temporary assistance.

The report declared that Alberta, if it paid full interest rates this year, would be in a somewhat worse position than Manitoba, and somewhat better than Saskatchewan.

ABERHART'S SOLUTION
The report, in effect, found Alberta was almost as badly financially as Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but had put its own solution into effect, reduction of interest on bonds, debentures and guaranteed securities from an average of 4.89 to 2 1/2 per cent. The money saved on debt charges had placed the province in the position of being able to carry on until the commission recasts the whole taxation field, it held.

The bank was critical of the interest reduction legislation, calling it repudiation, and a short-sighted policy. The bank found other reasons for recommending no assistance to Alberta. The scale of taxation for the year 1937-38 will approximately equal the scale of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Budget appropriations for the year will enable Alberta to operate services on a scale as high as Manitoba or Saskatchewan.

The Coming Election

IT HAD BEEN CUSTOMARY IN British Columbia from the time of the advent of party politics for governments to render an accounting of their stewardship to the people after about four years of office instead of waiting until the full statutory period of five years had elapsed. The notable exception, of course, was the procedure followed by the Tolmie government which clung to power and all the emoluments of office which it carried from August 21, 1928, until November 15, 1933.

We are now told by the morning paper, a consistent supporter of federal and provincial Conservative parties and governments, that "the only reason for an election in British Columbia during the next few months is that of political strategy of the party in power," that "there is no public demand for it," because "of the unsettling effect of an appeal to the people." It pursues the argument that an election should not be held now, "when economic conditions show a disposition to right themselves," implying that it ought to be postponed. Is this a tribute to the government? It would seem so.

It is not a simple matter to discover the reason underlying the Colonist's objection to Premier Pattullo's desire to ask the electorate to tell him what it thinks of his administration's record—incidentally, he has not said when he proposes to do so—since the leader of the provincial Conservative party, whom we presume the morning paper intends to support in the campaign that is expected to get under way in the "next few months," has publicly announced that he will have a candidate in every riding. Will it be argued seriously, therefore, that the leader of the provincial Conservative party is in the mood to wait another twelve months to know whether he is to be the next Prime Minister of British Columbia, or whether he will still remain just the figure-head of the Tories of the province? Anti-Pattullo newspapers will have to answer this question themselves.

Then we get this: "However, Mr. T. D. Pattullo is the arbiter in the situation, and he considers the time opportune for his political fortunes: he sees the forces arrayed against him expounding rival policies; he believes that the vote will be so split up because of so many parties in the field that the Liberals, well organized and fully equipped with campaign funds, should be easy victors at the polls." Continuing the theme we get this strange contradiction in terms: "Present indications are that the campaign will be unduly prolonged, though why, it is impossible to say. There is little to tell the people that they do not know, and they could vote with as full knowledge tomorrow as they will in June." Certain legal electoral requirements, of course, determine the date of a general election. The first week in June is the earliest date a general election in British Columbia could be held. "As they will in June," therefore, is a term that does not seem to fit in from a prognosticating point of view with the suggestion of a campaign "unduly prolonged."

To quote again from our morning contemporary: "There will, no doubt, be a multiplicity of tangled issues before the people, because of which they will be bemused through inability to think clearly. Voting strength will be dissipated as never before in this province. It will be impossible to get a clear verdict from a majority of the people. Politics in the public mind were never such a matter of cross purposes as they are at present. That is a pity, for such a condition in what is called public opinion militates against progress, and in the past, and so in the present, what a majority of the people are concerned with is how British Columbia may be made a better place in which to live."

But the priceless tid-bit is contained in the following comments of the stalwart Conservative morning journal as it throws its verbal javelin at the Pattullo government: "Whatever economic development there has been in spite of and not because of provincial legislation, and due solely to general world recovery. The government had no responsibility whatever in raising the price of base metals which has led to greater mineral production. It had no part whatever in creating a greater demand for British Columbia's lumber and other products. These things were due to recovery elsewhere in which British Columbia logically shared, wholly irrespective of provincial administration."

It is a tradition in Canadian political life that when things go wrong, or are supposed to go wrong, it is the political unwisdom of a Liberal government, or governments, but when they go right with such governments, it is all due to "natural causes"—or some act of God.

Considering this matter from a federal standpoint, it is not out of place to remind all Tory newspapers that former Premier Bennett, by his high tariff policies, almost wrecked this country economically. Fortunately, the party headed by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King was elected to office in sufficient time to stave off disaster.

British Opinion Changing

UNTIL RECENTLY, AT LEAST, Britain's Tory government has been playing Mussolini's and Hitler's game. But signs have been increasing that British public opinion has been trending away from the Fascists. Mr. Lloyd George, still a pretty good weather vane of British politics, having played on both sides of the fence on most issues since the war, now thunders anti-Fascist denunciations. "Stand up to Mussolini!" he roared in the House of Commons the other day. "Earn some respect for Britain! I'd rather have Italy's anger than Italy's contempt."

Reflecting the change in public opinion is the modification now becoming apparent in the British Government's stand in regard to the civil war in Spain. London's The Week, reports that Mr. Ernest Bevin and Sir Walter Citrine, trade union leaders, on the eve of the recent International Labor Conference in London, took the remarkable step of visiting the Foreign Office in person and asking the authorities there whether or not they were in favor of Franco. "The Foreign Office people told them no, they were not," The Week reports. "The result was that the trade union leaders, apparently believing they had an assurance of a 'strong' British policy towards the invasion of Spain, threw themselves vigorously into the task of lining up the conference behind what is in fact the official British policy."

"A Regrettable Error"

INSURGENT AUTHORITIES IN Spain have apologized to Great Britain for the bombing of a British warship on her way from Valencia to Alicante. The Franco "government" describes the incident as a regrettable error.

The government at Westminster apparently is satisfied with the "explanation." In British circles, however, there is a feeling that the bombing was "a piece of carelessness which might have had extremely unfortunate results."

As properly noted, it is taken for granted that neither side participating in Spain's civil war would be so foolish as deliberately to attack the British Navy.

Dipping into history, of course, Spaniards, insurgent or loyalists, will recall a very tragic incident, for them, that followed a game of bowls on Plymouth Hoe.

Attacking A Vicious Germ

AS WE PROGRESS AND REALIZE that one of the most direct causes of economic stagnation—of international suspicion and physical war—is the artificial barrier to trade and commerce, so we shall be able to restore business throughout the world and provide employment for those millions who have been rendered idle by circumstances over which they have had no control.

Under the guidance of Premier van Zeeland of Belgium there has been launched—backed by Great Britain and France and supported by President Roosevelt—a sort of general campaign with the object of putting an end to tariff foolishness and the hindrance it imposes on the business of the exchange of commodities between nation and nation.

This sensible business effort, by the way, featured the international sugar conference which opened on Monday in London, and that plans have been carefully laid is revealed by the news from Brussels that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the German economic dictator, is expected in the Belgian capital next week to open trade conversations.

It was stated that the United States had advised the survey and Mr. Norman H. Davis, the U.S. delegate to the sugar conference, in replying to the toast by Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, chairman of the conference, said: "It is to such international co-operation that we must look for a firm basis for restored prosperity to nations and for mutually beneficial trade and peaceful relations among them."

It will thus be seen that there is still hope the leading commercial nations of the world mean to get something done toward the curing of their disease of economic nationalism those purblind so-called statesmen and politicians who have become obsessed with the idea that a nation can live by taking in its own washing.

Notes

The best investment for our children is one that will make good citizens of the people they must live with.

Looking backwards, a depression appears as an unhappy period when there is nothing for capital and labor to fight over.

The Hercules with a sledge hammer, symbolizing Labor, seems rather out of date now, and perhaps should be replaced by Rodin's pensive sit-downer.

A new high speed camera on the judges' stands of race tracks this year will tell after a race is over which horse won. But we suspect what most race-track habitués are looking for is a camera to tell them the winner before the race starts.

Loose Ends

A ship rolling in mid-Atlantic has advantages gastronomically—but not in a literary sense—One learns, however, how to eat, how to play—and how to take a bath.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MID-ATLANTIC, HALIFAX TO GLASGOW, ABOARD C.P.S. DUCHESS OF BEDFORD.

SALT WATER

SOME PEOPLE may not believe it, but my considered opinion is that a ship in mid-Atlantic is not the best place in the world in which to write a column for the newspapers. I do not refer to the curious motions of the ocean, which has a bad habit of rolling and twisting in a fashion to disconcert any typewriter and anyone using it. I do not mean either the certain feeling in the pit of one's stomach which one never admits is sea-sickness but is uncomfortable just the same. I do not refer to the fact that the table in my cabin is sprawling in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction alternately and that the horizon has a way of coming up over the porthole and disappearing again with a sickening regularity, while I slide in a most undignified fashion in my chair.

No, it is not a physical difficulty but a mental. The Canadian Pacific Railway has a method of making you so comfortable, so luxurious and so useless on its ships that you don't want to write a column, even though you know that thousands of people back there to seaward, beyond the mountains, beyond the plains and the mountains, beyond the Straits of Georgia, are crying out for it (or at least you hope they are).

Perhaps it is the food. One surrenders so completely to one's appetite on a trip of this sort, one becomes so utterly gross in the presence of so much food, that any form of intellectual effort becomes a grave problem. One's mind is completely occupied with the problem of walking off the nourishment taken five times a day with scrupulous regularity.

There is no time to do any thinking. I have not heard a thought since leaving Halifax. Here are men on this ship who get on fine in business, who make money and lead their fellows, who think powerfully ashore. Afloat they can't think at all. The only serious mental process during the day is devoted to figuring out the run of the ship in nautical miles in the last twenty-four hours, on which the usual sweepstakes is held. On that question some of the leading brains of Canadian business are concentrating deeply at the moment, with inaccurate results.

PROPER ATTITUDE

THE PROPER ATTITUDE to assume on a trip across the Atlantic, they tell me, is one of superiority and sophistication. Everyone who has ever been to Europe immediately assumes a vast superiority and treats his friends with a certain condescension. On all subjects of foreign affairs he assumes a special wisdom, because he once saw them changing the Guard at Buckingham Palace. He is an authority on the ethnology of Europe because he once saw the Eiffel Tower. These people bear you down after a while. Unless you have also crossed the Atlantic you feel an enormous inferiority. You don't venture to open your mouth when foreign affairs are under discussion. You remain silent when anyone mentions England or France.

Never having crossed the Atlantic before, I thus approached it with a certain trepidation, as a man might approach his admission into a secret society. The travelers make such a mystery of it, such a ritual, such a tradition, that, long before you start, you feel utterly unworthy of the Atlantic. You feel you are sure to do the wrong thing, get on the wrong boat, pick up the wrong cutlery in the dining saloon.

You board the ship, indeed, in mortal terror, not of the sea, which is friendly enough, but of the company. You remember what all your friends have told you, about the proper method of traveling, about the eating to avoid seasickness, about the treatment of stewards, about the very act of taking a bath, which seems to be a function as sacred as a sacrament.

But you find that all this is just a glamorous facade that the travelers have built up to swell their own importance, to make them seem superior among the villagers at home. You find that you eat your food just as you do at home, that you treat stewards as human beings and take your bath as if it were Saturday night in the farmhouse. This may seem to you like a common-place discovery. But, if you have been planning an ocean voyage and listening to the advice of friends, you will realize that it is a devastating disillusionment. You come here expecting to go through some exciting cosmic sensation, like falling in love for the first time, but you find that, after all, the sea is just like the Straits of Juan de Fuca except that there is more of it. The ship is just like a first-class hotel, except that it sways more, the bath is similar except that the salt water won't lather, and it's just as much of a nuisance to dress for dinner as ashore.

Once you have learned those things, once you have realized that very ordinary people have crossed the ocean before and that the feat is well within your capacities, you get along fine. But it will be great to tell the villagers, when you get back, how thrilling and overwhelming this experience is, how much intelligence it requires, what savoir faire. Really, all you need is a good stomach.

VICTORIA'S OPPORTUNITY AT SAN FRANCISCO AT GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE OPENING

To the Editor:—An event of importance throughout the northwest will be the grand opening of the Golden Gate Bridge at San Francisco, May 27 to June 2. Visitors from all parts will gather for this event. The Kitchikan Boys' Band and a detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, will officially represent Vancouver, while Victoria has been invited to send the 16th Canadian Scottish Pipe Band, and also to enter a float in the parade.

No greater opportunity has been offered in many years for Victoria to advertise itself than by making a worth-while contribution at this opening of the world's largest bridge. Citizens are interested to know what is going to be Victoria's response. One suggestion is to enter a float, representing an Indian village, with a totem pole of the Thunder Bird. This could be designed into a scheme of flowers, with a green foundation of native plants and trees. Totems are a feature only of the northwest coast, and such a scheme would have an appeal to eastern visitors.

Another suggestion arises from the fact this is Coronation year. A replica of the crown jewels were recently exhibited at David Spence's store in Victoria and Vancouver. It is suggested that this replica might be used for a representation of Queen Victoria, who as a girl of nineteen years, was adorned with the originals of these crown jewels at her coronation in 1837, which will also be worn and carried by King George and Queen Elizabeth on May 12 at their coronation. It is of significance to the citizens of this queen city that some recognition be given to this centenary.

We most certainly think that a float should be sent to San Francisco for this celebration, and can think of nothing more suitable than a representation of the young Queen Victoria, at the time of her Coronation, one hundred years ago. Comment is invited.

Better Medical Care

Doctors, Report Holds, Do Not Yet Perceive Prevention, Rather Than Cure, Is Real Goal

NEW YORK.

A LARGE part of the population does not get adequate medical care today, but the situation should be remedied by careful planning and the gradual process of evolution, not by revolutionary changes.

This is the majority opinion of 2,200 physicians whose views were canvassed by the American Foundation Studies in Government. The report of this latest study on medical care is made public here.

Most of the one physicians who contributed their opinions have been practicing medicine for twenty years or more. A few are recent graduates in medicine.

The importance of preventing sickness and the consequent close relation between public health and private medicine is apparently well recognized by these physicians. One reason why medical care is not yet good enough, the report of their views states, is that the "medical imagination still does not sufficiently perceive that prevention rather than cure is the real and ultimate goal of medical science."

The time has gone by, it is stressed, when the public health officer deals with prevention and the private practitioner with cure. The doctor of the future will practice as much preventive medicine in his office as the public health department does, many of the 2,200 physicians venture to predict. Further evidence that these physicians are aware of the importance of increasing facilities to prevent disease rather than those for curing it is seen in the proposal that a federal department of health is both justified and needed.

Economic and social aspects of medical care cannot be separated from the quality of medical care itself, in the opinion of the physicians who contributed their views. Better medicine, they say, is more important than better distribution and lower costs.

The key to the whole problem of providing better medical care, they seem to feel, is medical education. In improving the quality of medical education, these physicians recommend more attention in medical schools to preventive medicine and also better training for public health work.

Education of the layman is considered an important factor in making medical care more adequate.

"Adequate medical care assumes a public that understands it, wants it and is capable of receiving it," states the report. "The present extent of quackery and the present wide use of nostrums emphasize the fact that a better educated public is a condition precedent to any nation-wide plan for making adequate medical care generally available."

Whatever plans are made for improving medical care, provision must be made, the report also states, for competent research which is "the heart alike of both preventive and curative medicine."

Better English

By D. C. WILLIAMS

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "The falseness of the report was apparent."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "gawgaw"?

TELLS OF LIFE OF DESCARTES

Prof. Robert Wallace Addresses Astronomical Society at Y.W.C.A.

An interesting description of the life and work of Rene Descartes, seventeenth century philosopher and mathematician, who contributed much to modern science, was given by Professor Robert Wallace of Victoria College at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday evening.

Professor Wallace told how Descartes combined the ancient sciences of algebra and geometry to form analytical geometry, the foundation for calculus and for the mathematics of conic sections which has a direct bearing on astronomy.

Descartes, he said, spent much of his time in bed, and there thought out most of his philosophy. Like his contemporaries, among whom were Galileo, Shakespeare, Newton, Pascal and Harvey, he was acquainted with a variety of subjects including optics, anatomy, meteorology, astronomy, electricity and theology.

Treatises on all these subjects were included in a book which he published, with the consent of Cardinal Richelieu, in 1637. His work on analytical geometry was added as an appendix.

Calculus, a derivation of analytical geometry, was being used increasingly even in biology, psychology and economics, Professor Wallace said.

Gordon Shaw, president of the society, announced that P. H. Hughes, Commander H. R. Tingley, and Capt. W. E. Everall would lead a symposium at the next meeting, April 28, on "The Cultural and Practical Benefits of Astronomy."

Robert Peters gave a short talk on the summer stars and constellations, now appearing in the sky.

G. S. TANNOCK IS PRESIDENT

Selected to Head Twentieth Century Young Liberals' Association

G. S. Tannock was elected president of the Twentieth Century Young Liberal Association of Victoria, at a well-attended annual meeting held Tuesday evening. P. Hartnell was the choice for vice-president, and Ronald W. Fairclough, secretary, was returned to that office by acclamation.

The executive committee is as follows: Misses A. Hannay and L. Rogers, N. Butler, H. Coates and A. Jacobson. Owing to the withdrawal of the only candidate for the office of treasurer, nominations were declared open for this office, and will close April 13, at midnight. Nominations to be handled by the committee consisting of A. Hannay, H. Coates and H. Butler. The election to fill this office will take place April 20. Each candidate gave a brief campaign address, which stimulated a keen interest in the elections, the presidential race being very close.

A brief address was given by E. M. Whyte, who indicated a number of objectives for the fast-growing association. W. P. Lawson also spoke and congratulated the members on their choice of officers for the ensuing year. There was a good attendance of young Liberals present, who appeared to be very enthusiastic about the future activities of the association.

For fifty-six years the phrase—"Solid as the Continent"—used by Hon. Alexander MacKenzie, former Prime Minister of Canada and the first President of North American Life, has fittingly described the strength and stability of this Company.

Its outstanding financial position is an indication of the ability of its management—its steady growth and ever-widening circle of policyholders are convincing proof of the confidence of the insuring public. Why not investigate the advantages of Assuring Mutually in North American Life.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

APRIL 8, 1912

(From The Times Files)

Both the morning and evening Easter services at the Christ Church Cathedral yesterday were attended by a large concourse of people, in both instances many having to be turned away at the doors before the commencement of the services.

The morning service was conducted by Very Rev. Dean Doull and the evening service by Bishop Roper.

Ground was broken at the corner of View and Blanshard Streets Saturday for the basement of Andrew Sheret's new and modern private hotel, and the contractors, Murray and Aves, are to work continuously until the building is complete. It will be three stories with stores on the ground floor and rooms above.

Lieutenant-Governor Patterson has received notification that H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, the Duchess of Connaught, Princess Patricia and suite, will visit Victoria about October 1 next, and will spend some days here.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association took place on Saturday night at the Vancouver Athletic Club. One of the most important features of the meeting was the report of a special committee to the effect that the only tank at the disposal of the league, which was fit for the purpose of holding polo matches was the tank at the Y.M.C.A. of Victoria.

On Friday last six members of the Victoria Hunt Club took advantage of an invitation from the Vancouver Hunt Club to take part in a special run over on the mainland.

Distinct Garden For B.C. Urged

A distinctive form of garden for the Pacific Northwest was urged by John A. Grant, F.R.H.S., in a talk on "Garden Design" before the Victoria Horticultural Society in the City Hall on Tuesday evening.

"We have strong dominating characteristics in our landscape which we should follow in our garden work," he said. "We should use more of our own native plants. If we start building from what we have, I feel it will go down as a tradition."

Mr. Grant spoke on the formal design which should be used where the architectural background dominated. He felt the informal treatment was most suited to small gardens. Naturalistic planting was also discussed.

D. D. McTavish, president, who was in the chair, asked for supervisors to direct out-of-town visitors around the gardens which would be thrown open in connection with the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association's spring flower show.

Canadians At Royal Courts

Eighty Will Be Presented
In May and July

By MOLLIE MOGEE
London, April 8.—More than eighty Canadian women will be presented to Their Majesties at the Coronation year Courts May 6 and July 1. The court to be held May 5 is to be reserved for English debutantes—who number about 250—and other English presentees.

Canadians making their bows will outnumber by a good number those of any previous year and will—in the majority of cases—be girls who are also making their bow to society next season at home.

Unselfish withdrawal of dozens of English debs who are waiting till next year has made such a large presentation possible and kept the two later receptions from being overcrowded.

South African presentees are being instructed in the art of making a cortsey by the wife of their High Commissioner. Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the Canadian High Commissioner, intends giving parties for the Canadian group, but they expect to learn their Buckingham Palace party manners from Jean Macpherson of Turonto and several other dancing and deportment instructors who specialize in such matters in London.

Overseas visitors will have the opportunity of seeing the English debutantes in their parade at a ball
April 26.

The largest number of debs ever brought together for such an occasion will enter the ballroom of Grosvenor House in two long lines, simply gowned in white with smart coiffures and make-up.

They will wear with them a great birthday cake lit with 100 candles in memory of Queen Charlotte, wife of George III, and curtsy in turn to the Duke and Duchess of Kent, both direct descendants of that queen.
The Duchess will cut the cake.

Alumni Has Its Annual Dinner

The Victoria Acadia Alumni Association held their annual meeting in the form of a banquet at the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening.

Covers were laid for twenty. The president, B. S. Freeman, was in the chair.

After dinner Mr. Freeman proposed a toast to the King, after which the national anthem was sung. A. E. Dunlop, LL.B., then proposed a toast to Acadia, taking as his theme "Past President," which recalled many amusing incidents of college life.

This was replied to by the guest of honor, Dr. F. W. Patterson, president of Acadia University, Nova Scotia, who gave a very graphic and comprehensive account of the Acadia of today, her needs and her vision for the future.

The programme was interspersed by the singing of old Acadia songs, accompanied by Mrs. G. S. Beale, and led by Mrs. H. O. English. These were entered into with great spirit by the graduates.

The report from the nominating committee was submitted, and members of the executive elected for the coming year are as follow: President,
B. S. Freeman, vice-president, V. L.
Denton; secretary-treasurer, W. H.
Webster; additional members, O. H.
Cogswell and Miss Queenie Tabor.

"Monte Carlo" At Hi-Jinks Party

Various pseudo-gambling games will be available to those who attend the hi-jinks party sponsored by the graduates of U.B.C. in Victoria tomorrow evening, at the Victoria Yacht Club. A miniature Monte Carlo will be opened at 8.30, and those who patronize the gambling games will have the unique opportunity of smashing or losing a fortune. Bogus money will be provided for this major part of the programme, and such games as roulette, under and over, crown and anchor, bingo, bagatelle and the wheel of fortune will be played.

Several clever stunts will be offered during the evening. All graduates, their wives or husbands, and their friends are invited to attend.

Married Recently

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kennelly, whose marriage took place recently at St. Matthias Church. The bride was formerly Miss Joan M. Read.

Society

Mrs. F. W. Grant, Chestnut Street, has returned from Vancouver, where she has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Chris Spencer.

Mrs. Harry Bell left recently for Winnipeg where she will spend a month as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Douglas Smith.

Miss Kathleen ... new, Rockland Avenue, who has been spending the last few weeks in California, is expected back in Victoria on Saturday morning.

Mrs. B. F. Rhodes of Cochrane, Alta., and formerly of Metcalfe, returned from the Empress of Canada yesterday after spending the winter months in Honolulu. She is staying at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. F. J. Sehl, Park Street, has returned to her home after visiting her daughter, Miss Florence Sehl, R.N., at Chemainus, and while up the island was the guest of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Sims of Royston.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Hinkle of Boston, who have been spending several weeks in Victoria visiting Mrs.
Hinkle's father, Mr. T. Lee Peters, Foul Bay Road, will leave tomorrow for the mainland on their return to their home in the United States.

Mrs. E. C. Giffin, Victoria, announces the engagement of her only daughter, Hazel, to J. Gordon Mc-Elhose, third son of Mr. and Mrs.
F. C. McElhose of 2945 Gravelly Street, Vancouver. The wedding to take place at Hastings East Foursquare Church, Tuesday, April 20.

Mrs. Chas. Hudson was hostess at the tea-hour at her home on Oak Bay Avenue yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. R. B. Taylor, president of the Oak Bay Friendly
Help, who with her husband, Royce
Taylor, will leave on April 20 for England to attend the Coronation.
The tea table was arranged with a bowl of spring flowers, and tea was poured by Mrs. E. M. Brown. During the afternoon Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, on behalf of the members of the Oak Bay Friendly Help, presented Mrs.
Taylor with a handsome handbag.
Those present were Mrs. R. W. May-hew, Mrs. C. Macdonald, Mrs. W. W.
Baines, Mrs. Len. Woodhouse, Mrs. S.
J. Drake, Mrs. C. H. Hinkins, Mrs. W.
J. Gopel, Mrs. H. A. Goward, Mrs. E.
M. Brown and Miss A. Bradshaw.

Miss Mary Wilson, whose marriage to Mr. Alan Le Marquand will take place shortly, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given last night by Mrs. A. M. Brown (nee Pallard) and Miss Genevieve Liddle, at Mrs. Brown's home, 1317 Pandora Avenue. The rooms were attractively arranged with daffodils, and the guest of honor was presented by Miss Liddle with a fragrant corsage bouquet on her arrival. The many lovely gifts were presented in a large flower basket, decorated in white. Those present included Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. E. Morris (nee Johnson), Mrs. W.
Wells, Mrs. F. Meads (nee Creffield),
Mrs. G. Liddle, Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. A.
Marshall, Mrs. G. Le Marquand, Mrs.
J. French, Mrs. D. Scott, Mrs. T. Mc-Laughlin, Mrs. M. Wallis, and the Misses Jenny Allan, Eleanor Colwell,
Lois Macmillan, Jane Trotter, Eleanor Trotter, Mary Wells, Genevieve Liddle, Jean Erickson, Mary Alexander, Vera Love, Marjorie Alexander, Lillian Bethell, Marjorie Ralls and Marjorie Margison.

Dean Talks On British Rulers

Before a large and interested audience, Dean Quinton gave a scholarly address on "Our Monarchs Since 1837," at the Memorial Hall last night.
The affair was sponsored by the Women's Parish Guild in aid of its funds.

The Dean reviewed the life and reign of Queen Victoria, showing that she had been more honored after her death than during her long and able occupancy of the throne. He spoke of her son, King Edward the Seventh, recalling his diplomacy in cementing the friendly relations between Great Britain and other parts of Europe, and also paid tribute to the late King George, and touched briefly upon the brief reign of former King Edward the Eighth.

Of the present sovereign, the speaker spoke in warm praise, expressing the opinion that while he had been overshadowed by the more dominant personality of his elder brother, he possessed the attributes which make for kingship of the highest type.

The delightful musical programme included: "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "An Open Secret," sung by Miss Nora Jones, with Mrs.
Baker at the piano; Mr. A. W. Palmer, accompanied by Miss White, sang "Land of Hope and Glory" and "Beloved Devon"; Mr. P. C. Edmonds, whose songs were: "Soldier, What of the Night?" and "It's a Mighty Good World," and Miss Swain, who was accompanied by Mrs. Cleall, sang "To the Sun," and "Rain."

Girl Film Star Died Yesterday

Associated Press
Beverly Hills, Calif., April 8.—Helen
Burgess, eighteen-year-old Portland, Ore., girl, only recently elevated to feature rating in motion pictures, died last night of pneumonia.

The blonde Portland high school girl, who came to Hollywood with an acting experience and was given a leading role in "The Plainman," starring Gary Cooper, caught a cold last week and was taken to a hospital.
Lobar pneumonia developed and she was placed in an oxygen tent, but her condition grew steadily worse.

One month ago Miss Burgess obtained an annulment of her marriage to her music teacher, Herbert Rutherford, on the grounds he wed her "merely for spite." She said she remained with her husband only three hours after the marriage and then went to live with her mother.

The girl's death postponed indefinitely work on the Philo Vance film, "Night of Mystery," in which she had a featured role.

McMILLAN—HOLCOMB

On March 31 the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holcomb, Cloverdale, B.C., was the scene of a wedding when their eldest daughter, Thelma Grace, was united to Mr. Stewart McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McMillan, Cloverdale, former resident of Victoria. Rev. J. H. A. Warr of the Cloverdale United Church performed the ceremony.

The bride was charming in her ensemble of blue crepe patterned with lover's knots, with a corsage of Ophelia roses, and was attended by her sister, Miss Blanche Holcomb, becomingly attired in a maroon floral crepe costume with corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. John B.
McMillan. During the signing of the register Mrs. J. H. A. Warr sang very sweetly "O Promise Me," assisted by Mrs. V. R. McMillan of Vancouver.

After a reception, at which the guests were received by Mrs. A. E.
Holcomb attired in a brown floral crepe costume, assisted by Mrs. J. B.
McMillan, in a beige crepe ensemble, the bridal couple left for a honeymoon in the south. On their return they will make their home at Melboat Farm, Cloverdale, B.C.

TRAILER ADVENTURE

by Nard Jones
© 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Stranded in San Diego on vacation, MARTHA BRITAIN and BETTY MAYNES obtain an assignment with the Airspeed Trailer Company to travel up the coast, demonstrating the new de luxe trailer. Their suspicions are aroused somewhat when ARNOLD SLOSS of the trailer company fails to ask for either bond or references. They return to their apartment to find a handsome young man trying to enter. Apologetically, he tells them he stepped off at the wrong door and that he is GERRY NEAL.

They start north and pick up Neal, hitch-hiking. He tells them he is to meet a friend, JACK SPEEDON, at Long Beach. But at Long Beach auto camp when Speedon appears, Neal has disappeared from the trailer. Driving off with Betty to check Neal's disappearance, Speedon fails to return. Frankly, Martha calls police. Officer SLOAN proves of little help. Then Martha gets a wire, signed "Betty," advising Betty can't explain but will meet Martha in a San Francisco hotel. Feverishly Martha starts north. "Trust me at Santa Barbara, utterly fatigued, she parks her trailer near the beach and drops to sleep.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

For hours she paid no attention to the time, holding the wheel in nerveless fingers, her eyes glued to the road. Once beyond Santa Monica and into the straightaway, she increased her speed dangerously, grateful for the fine smooth run stretching northward. But eventually she could stand the grind no longer, found herself swerving dangerously into the shoulder of the road and realized she had momentarily dropped asleep. At Santa Barbara she dropped into an all-night cafe, hoping that coffee would revive her enough so that she could go on. But as she climbed from the little coupe she knew at last that her brain and body were at the rebellion point. Wearily she returned to the trailer, and drove the car and trailer beyond the business district, down toward the wide stretch of sand that skirted the city's yacht harbor. In another five minutes she had taken down the trailer's berth, dropped into it fully clothed, and was asleep.

When Martha awakened, raised herself sleepily to the window, the bright yellow sun of Santa Barbara was high overhead. To her amazement, cars were parked all along the block which had been so deserted only a few hours before. The snow-white sand of the beach was dotted with the bright bathing suits and multi-colored sun-umbrellas. Offshore a dozen small sailing craft played about, and as Martha gazed from the window, a smart speedboat dashed by, tossing spray high above its sedan top. But as Martha watched she was possessed of only one thought—how Betty would have enjoyed the movement and color of such a scene. Hurriedly she dashed her face with cold water, made a slapdash attempt to fix her hair presentably. And she decided it would be quicker to break-fast there.

Returning to the trailer after a brief breakfast, which she hardly tasted, Martha confronted a pleasant-looking motorcycle officer in uniform. He smiled and touched his cap. "Sorry, miss. We don't allow trailers to park on this street, but you can find a place."

"I'm leaving right away, officer," Martha interrupted and climbed into the coupe. So quickly did she suit the action to the word that the officer stared after trailer and car open-mouthed.

The pleasant officer scratched his head, uttering a puzzled and audible comment. And despite the trailer in tow, Martha did hurry. At all times she held close to the maximum speed limit, and on the lone straightway, she took a chance against the law. One thought kept ringing in her brain: she must reach the Palace Hotel in San Francisco and contact Betty Haynes.

At every little town she paused at gasoline stations on the main highway, asking for information as to a dark blue roadster. But none had any help to give. "I just came on out, lady," "I wasn't here last night," Or, "No, ma'am, I don't remember any dark blue roadster at all." In Santa Maria, in San Luis Obispo, in Paso Robles, in busy King City, it was the same. But still Martha kept grimly on, holding to her faith in the mysterious telegram she had received at Long Beach.

And then, late that afternoon, she reached Salinas. Wearily she drove into a gasoline yard and asked the same question once more. "Dark blue roadster?" the attendant said. "Y-yes, there was one in here."

Martha straightened in her seat. "Do you remember, was there a young woman in it?" "Yes, a woman and a man. A thin fellow—and a girl with light hair." Excitedly Martha reached into the pocket of her jacket, brought out the slip of paper on which she'd written Speedon's license number. "Was that the license?"

The attendant looked at it. "Gosh," he said slowly. "I'm not sure. I remember looking at the plate when I was filling the tank, and it seems to me it was something like that. But I can't be sure."

Martha fixed his glance. "Please try to remember. Did you notice anything at all strange about the girl? I mean did she—was she acting perfectly natural?"

"Well . . . I thought she looked sort of down in the mouth. Like maybe they'd had a fight or something. People come in here like that a lot."

"It might have been fright, mightn't it?"

"Scared? Well—well, I guess she could've been."

"And they went on toward San Francisco?"

The attendant looked at her. "No they didn't. They turned down toward Carmel and Monterey."

"How do you know that?"

"That's the road right there, San Francisco is straight ahead. If you want to go down to the Carmel coast you turn left here." He reached into his pocket for a road map. "It's not far. Doesn't take you off the main highway more than twenty miles."

Martha nodded. "Thanks a lot." She paid for her gasoline and oil, drove swiftly out of the station lot and down the road to Carmel and Monterey. "That must surely have been Betty and Speedon," she told herself. Riefully she remembered that Airspeed's itinerary had called for stops in King City and Salinas, had kept to the main highway. Whatever happened now, she had certainly lost the confidence of her employer!

Dipping down toward the coast she found herself in a soft grey fog that made slower driving a necessity. Impatiently Martha peered against the thick wall that diffused the glow of her headlights and turned the growing dusk confusingly. As she drove slowly on she became conscious of a strange change in the country around her. Queer, sprawling cypress trees clutched down from the banks on each side of the road. Somehow the car and its modern trailer seemed an anachronism in all the wildness. She had heard of the bright gaily of Del Monte and could not connect it with this lonely stretch of cypress-lined road which appeared divorced from all time and space.

But at last she reached more level ground, passed an occasional lighted farmhouse. By now she felt against her cheeks the keen tangy air of the coast, and in her nose the smell of the sea. Suddenly she reached a brilliantly lighted place in the road, saw the wide gates of Del Monte and the huge hotel beyond the trees. But, reasoning that Speedon would not pause at such a populated resort, Martha pressed on toward Monterey.

At a more normal time she would have been utterly delighted with the little town, holding its savor of old Spain, still beautiful with new buildings whose architecture matched the old. But now she had but one purpose—to find Betty. In a parking lot at the edge of town she detached the trailer and started in the little coupe to make a round of the hotels. Not even Carmel, a few minutes' drive away, yielded a trace of a dark blue roadster carrying a thin man and a blonde young girl.

Returning from Carmel in the rising fog, Martha chided herself for trusting the observation of the attendant at Salinas. "I've wasted time," she told herself bitterly. "I should have gone straight on to San Francisco, as the wire said." But she was too weary now to attempt the night drive through the fog to Salinas. The fatigue of the previous day was still with her, and this second day's driving had been tiring. A little sleep, and then she could reach San Francisco in three or four hours.

She brought the coupe back to the trailer and climbed stiffly out. She had not tasted food since earlier in the day at Santa Barbara, yet the only thought in her mind was to gain just enough rest to make the remaining miles into San Francisco. For-lorily she started toward the Airspeed trailer, and was startled to see a man standing near its door. At first Martha could not believe her eyes. Her sudden fright gave way to anger as she realized that the man was Gerry Neal!

LABOR DRIVE HERE PLANNED

Organization of Various Trades Under International Is Aim of Campaign

In a concerted attempt to organize labor groups in Victoria the Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening laid plans for the appointment of a paid organizer to communicate with prospective groups to become allied internationally.

The move is one aimed at widening the scope of organized labor here to secure shorter working hours and more pay for groups at present without international organization.

Delegates to the council were requested to turn in the names of any prospective classifications which might be interviewed by an organizer before next Wednesday. On that date the executive will appoint by ballot an organizer who will be paid at the rate of $5 a day for at least three weeks.

Among the unorganized trades mentioned at last night's meeting were plumbers, steamfitters, lathers, butchers, moulders, painters, bar-tenders and restaurant workers.

Announcement was made that sawmill workers had received an international charter and were planning affiliation with the council shortly. Sheet metal workers were also reported in the midst of organization.

A lengthy report from the Vancouver branch of the British Columbia Association of Fire Fighters dealing with expulsion of the branch from the Trades Congress of Canada through a technicality was read to the meeting and it was decided to write the congress to determine whether the local and mainland branches could not be readmitted to membership in the councils of the two cities.

Attempts at settlement of longshoremen's difficulties in Victoria and Vancouver were dealt with in a letter from Hon. S. F. Timine, M.P., while another letter from the Trades Congress intended an investigation might be made into waterfront matters.

Signal School At Alberni

Alberni, April 8.—Lt.-Col. Walter Bapty of Victoria, accompanied by Captain Peppers, district signal officer, Military District No. 11, paid a visit at the week-end to the signal section of the 2nd Battalion (M.G.) Canadian Scottish Regiment here and made arrangements for the signaling school to start the week of April 19. The section was given a demonstration of the new Bren automatic machine gun, under the direction of Corporal Hall of the P.P.C.L.I.

The closing concert sponsored by the Kinmen Club was held Sunday evening at the Capitol. Bert Roberts was chairman. The entire proceeds are donated to provide equipment for the West Coast Hospital.

Lots are still selling briskly in the district and plans are under way for a new auto camp. Six extra lots were sold at the council meeting on Monday evening to Mrs. E. L. Ware, who with her husband has made substantial progress with construction of a modern auto camp.

1. This fabric washes very easily . . . can be washed 50 to 100 times without loss of beauty or strength.
2. Will wear for months . . . does not crack and split . . . perspiration-proof.
3. Remarkably free from faults because the yarn is so very regular.
4. Healthy—Celanese is a wonderful insulator, thus preserving the body heat in cool weather and in hot weather it keeps the heat out.
5. The humidity of air has no effect on Celanese. It has a fixed moisture content of not more than 4%, therefore always feels dry and comfortable.
6. COLORFAST—the dyes used (which were invented specially for Celanese) are much faster than is necessary commercially. Sun, soap, water, perspiration will NOT fade these colors.
7. Celanese fabrics do not shrink or sag or stretch or lose their shape.

SUNSHINE INN HAS DEFICIT

Institution Has Loss For March; Fewer Meals Served in Month

A further deficit for the month of March amounting to $72.64 is reported by the Sunshine Inn. The income received by way of cash donations amounted to $202.55 and contributions to the gift box at the inn, $6.97, making a total of cash receipts of $209.52, while the cash expenditure was $282.16.

The number of meals provided in March was 4,587, averaging 157 free meals per day during the month, as compared with an average of 191 meals per day provided in February. The decrease was noticed early in the month when the weather improved and work up-Island opened up and provided opportunity for younger able bodied men, however the elder men was not affected.

It is regretted that enough voluntary offerings are not provided to support Sunshine Inn without monthly deficits. The cost of food has increased to the inn to a large extent on account of increased commodity prices, but the same economical methods of management are in force. The morning meal will be discontinued at an early date, but the nourishing afternoon meal, which is provided between 3.30 and 4.30 o'clock will be carried on each day, including Sundays.

In addition to cash donations

Clyde Beatty Is Before Court

Associated Press

New York, April 8.—Clyde Beatty, animal trainer currently playing here in his act in a circus, was arrested late yesterday on a charge of cruelty to animals on the complaint of Jacob Jacobs, a Humane Society inspector. Jacobs charged he had seen Beatty beating lions and tigers in his act with a six-foot leather whip, and prodding them.

Itching Piles Rectal Soreness

If your piles, rectal soreness, itching, irritation, and painful stool, are caused by hepatic congestion—and this is a cause of piles in a majority of cases—you should take immediate steps to correct it. Otherwise, a serious condition may develop.

For over 25 years, Dr. Lechard's famous prescription, Hem-Roid, has been giving quick and satisfying results in relieving the misery of piles. What it has done for others it should do for you. Hem-Roid is used internally, and is especially prepared to relieve blood congestion in the lower bowel, which is a cause of piles. Easy and pleasant to use, good results are quickly noticed. All drug stores carry Hem-Roid. Your money back if it doesn't help you. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Co. Stores can supply you.

Hudson's Bay Win Wednesday Football League Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

TWO MORE TO GO. That was the battle-cry today of Lester Patrick's New York Rangers. The high-flying youngsters from Madison Square Garden smothered the Detroit Red Wings under a five-goal barrage in the opening game of the world championship hockey series and the Stanley Cup on Tuesday night. They needed just two more victories to lift the coveted mug. Despite the fact Rangers have to play all remaining games on Detroit ice, Patrick and his players appear to be full of confidence and are even talking about three straight. Tuesday night's win was especially pleasing to Victorians with Lynn Patrick, a native son, contributing two of the five goals.

Patrick can look over his ramified rink interests these days with much satisfaction. With Rangers' win over Detroit, the play-off victories of Patrick's hockey men reached eleven straight wins, including six shutouts. That is taking into consideration the triumphs scored by his National Hockey League outfit and the Ranger farm teams, Philadelphia Ramblers in the International-American League and the New York Rovers in the United States Eastern Amateur League.

Rangers knocked out Toronto Maple Leafs in two straight games, 3 to 0 and 2 to 1. Then they turned back Montreal Maroons in the second round of the Stanley Cup play-offs 1 to 0 and 4 to 1 and made it five straight by plastering Detroit.

In play for the Hershey Cup, amateur hockey laurel, the Rovers defeated Baltimore in three straight games, 3 to 2, 2 to 0, 8 to 3, while Philadelphia Ramblers in the International-American League's eastern sectional play-offs 3 to 1 and 5 to 0 and then Tuesday night set Syracuse Stars down 2 to 0 in the first game of the best-three-of-five series for the league championship.

Sporting predictions are dangerous, but there are quite a few experts in London who are naming Ronald Shays as Fred Perry's successor. At the present time, this well-built young man from Kent bears the championship marks of lawn tennis. Shays is twenty-two, and has had less than four years at the game, which he took up as a change from cricket.

He recently won the covered courts championship at the Queen's Club, beating Nigel Sharpe by three sets to one. Sharpe, on wood, is so good that few Englishmen can beat him; even Jean Borotra drops occasional sets to Sharpe.

Shays is a West Wickham man, an architect by profession. He is about the same build as Perry and in his playing style there is also a similarity. He is reported as accurate, takes an early ball, has good counteract, strong ground strokes, and builds his game on aggression. There is nothing Shays likes better than to reach the net, and if his volleying lacks the deadliness of Perry's, it will improve. Anyway, he is on the right lines and considering that his experience in senior tournament play is limited to two and a half years, he is doing wonderfully well. English experts claim the next few years will decide whether Shays is to reach the heights. Of the few likely young men around, he holds as bright a chance as any.

BOXING

Cincinnati—Norman Quarles, 136½, North Carolina, outpointed Johnny (Kayo) Stevens, 135, Cincinnati (10).

Stamford, Conn.—Kayo Morgan, 124½, Stamford, knocked out San Sanches, 124½, Mexico (3).

WRESTLING

Cleveland—Everett Marshall, Colorado, pinned Jim McMullin, Illinois, 17.22.

Portland, Ore.—Dean Detton, 212, Salt Lake City, defeated Sandro Szabo, 214, Hungary, one hour six minutes.

Manchester Second

Canadian Press. London, April 8.—Manchester City, one of the favorites for English Football League honors this year, climbed into second place yesterday with a 2 to 1 decision over Brentford. The City walloped the same team 6 to 2 last Saturday. Manchester now is one point behind Arsenal and holds a similar margin over Charlton Athletic. Arsenal and the Athletic each have played thirty-eight games, Manchester City thirty-seven.

Score Two Goals In Last Minutes To Beat Spencers

Victory By 2 to 0 Count Gives Bays Possession of Pendray Cup

Preston-Fish Goal Scores

There are plenty of smiling faces in Hudson's Bay soccer camp today, for tucked away safely in their trophy cabinet is the coveted trophy, the Pendray Cup, emblematic of the Victoria Wednesday Football League championship.

After battling with Spencer's for eighty-seven minutes yesterday afternoon at the Athletic Park, the Bays rang up a pair of tallies in the remaining three minutes, to emerge with a triumphant 2 to 0 victory—and the championship, which the rival departmental club had held for the last three years.

Probably one of the trickiest and most amusing displays of ball manœuvring seen in Victoria for some years was that which resulted in the final goal, seconds before the closing whistle, and about two and a half minutes after Bob Preston had scored the opening goal for the Bays.

HECTIC THREE MINUTES

A play-by-play description of the last three minutes of play was as follows: Bob Preston took Kennedy's rebound off the post, and Norm Stewardson, Spencer's goalie, had to throw out for a corner kick to save. Jimmy Oakman's kick from the flag was received by Fodgen, who centred to Bob Preston, near their opponents' net. Preston smashed the leather in between the two fullbacks, who blocked the view of the net, and the drive ended high in the corner of the net. It was the opening marker.

At the kick-off the whole of Spencer's team, with the exception of Lloyd Cann, full-back—and the goalie, of course—joined in the mass attack at the Bay's end in an effort to get the tying marker. Then suddenly that dynamic little right winger for the Bays, who answers to the name of Don Fish, got possession of the ball and streaked down the field on a solo flight. He was travelling at a fast clip. Except for the two men he had a clear field ahead. Cann came out to try to stop him but Fish, as tricky as ever, waltzed past him, hurdled over the legs of Bernie Clarke, who had come charging back to help guard the net, and then hoisted the ball over the head of the advancing goalkeeper, with the ball terminating its flight in the empty net—just ahead of the whistle and end play. The fans, and there were quite a number, got a real thrill out of that brief play.

POOR SOCCER

Except for those last few minutes, the match produced few interesting moments, with the exhibition of soccer being rather poor. In the first session the Diamond S lads had an edge in play, having more scoring opportunities, which they failed to capitalize on, owing to erratic shooting. The Bay's goalkeeper, Renfrew, was only called on once in this half to block at attempt at his net. Lloyd Cann and Bernie Clarke kept the Bays away successfully at Spencer's end, although Stewardson had to stop a couple of attempts that would have proved dangerous.

The Bays were the better club in the last session. Stewardson had to be on the job quite often, and turned in a good account of his net-tending ability. Spencer's attacked strongly at times in this session, but Renfrew was doing a good job in the goal in warding off their attempts, many of which were wide of their mark.

Percy Shrimpton refereed. The teams follow: Hudson's Bay—Renfrew, O'Connell, Wyatt, Williamson, Kennedy, Ferguson, Plush, McBride, Fodgen, Preston and Oakman; reserve, McCallan.

Spencers—Stewardson, Cann, Clarke, Speller, Moir, Bradley, Brown, Munro, Chapman, Collins, Whittle and McMillan.

Detroit (A) 12, Washington (A) 10.

May Organize Minor Hockey

Vancouver, April 8.—A proposal, put forward by F. W. "Cyclone" Taylor, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, for amalgamation of minor league hockey under a minor league league federation, will be discussed at a meeting in Detroit between league presidents, Taylor announced here. Taylor and Guy Patrick will attend the session.

HOCKEY FINAL OPENS TONIGHT

North Battleford and Sudbury Meet at Calgary in Canadian Series

Calgary, April 8.—Prospects of one of the greatest Allan Cup finals of all time were seen today with two powerful teams ready to represent the east and west for Dominion honors in the best-of-five series, starting here tonight.

Western Canada's best, North Battleford Beavers, tapered off their training grind with a ten-minute skate yesterday morning, and were pronounced in fine condition to meet Sudbury Tigers, eastern Canada champions, in the first game.

Except for Red Stuart's nickel belt champions, rolling across the prairies and expected to arrive in Calgary today, the stage was complete for the first Dominion finals ever to be staged in this foothills city.

Although all the tickets for the initial contest had not been sold, Arena officials announced sell-outs were guaranteed for the first three games. Interest in amateur hockey has reached a new high in Calgary. A special train will carry Edmonton fans to Saturday's game, while two trains have been ordered to bring enthusiasts from the Mirror and Drumheller districts for the third encounter, Monday.

Goal Problem Is Detroit's Worry

Smith Or Robertson Will Be in Nets For Red Wings in Second Game of World Hockey Championship Against New York Rangers Tonight

Canadian Press. Detroit, April 8.—The large question mark in the Detroit Red Wings' camp today—besides the best method of winning the second game of their Stanley Cup hockey series against New York Rangers tonight—was just who is going to play goal.

Normie Smith says he'll be between the posts. Manager Jack Adams says he won't and then enlarged on the statement.

"I'd say Earl Robertson will play," Adams said. Smith injured his arm in the game against Canadiens in Montreal. It was believed to be almost back to normal but the Toronto Ice injured it again in the first game against Rangers Tuesday which Detroit lost 5 to 1.

New York, April 8.—As confident a band of athletes as ever went to the hockey were followed Lester Patrick on a Detroit-bound train here last night, intent on winding up the Stanley Cup series in three games.

New York Rangers had every reason to be sure of themselves, for a team never looked hotter than the blue-shirted did in walloping the Red Wings in the cup-final opener. It was the fifth straight triumph for the Patrick puckmen in the title playdowns. There were no serious player-injuries to wrinkle the Patrick brow. Ott Heller wore adhesive tape on his head. Joe Cooper had a bruise on the side of his head. Otherwise, there wasn't a scratch in the carload of happy hockeyemen.

Bruce Humber Speeds to Win in Indoor Meet

When the photographer snapped the above picture he caught Bruce Humber, Victoria athlete, breaking the tape in the 220-yard dash of the indoor meet at Seattle between tracksters of the Universities of Washington and California. Humber is a student at Washington and was a member of the Canadian team at 1936 Olympiad at Berlin. Pollock, California, ran second to Washington. The chap seen sprawling at the left is Jack Flagg, Washington, who was robbed of second place when he stumbled just before the finish.

Fourteen Enter In Medal Play

The monthly medal competition at the Macaulay Point Golf Club will see fourteen women golfers match strokes on Sunday. Players are asked to arrange their own starting times. The draw follows:

Mrs. Stancomb, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Wilson. Miss A. Bland and Miss E. Irvine. Miss Mary Thorne and Mrs. J. Holyoak. Mrs. C. Brown and Miss I. Jarvis. Miss I. Holyoak, Miss H. Irvine and Miss S. Holyoak. Miss M. Rickaby and Miss N. Hocking.

BOWLING SCORES

OLYMPIC ALLEYS COMMERCIAL & TENNIS LEAGUE. Gasson—W. H. Draper 483, E. Ludbrook 441, H. Cluff 466, W. Mowat 523, handicaps—92. Total, 1,914.

Northwest Creamery—R. Crawford 461, T. Dickinson 498, F. Dillabough 595, low score 492, handicap—97. Total, 1,902. Gasson won two.

Scott & Peden A—W. Peden 542, E. Goodman 519, E. Jones 531, E. Weeg 463, handicaps—92. Total, 2,044.

MacDonald's—J. Collins 495, S. Pearce 449, J. Angus 488, F. Young 554, low score 384, handicap—112. Total, 2,358.

Scott & Peden A won three.

hot and cold during the regular season into one that has torn through the playoffs like a juggernaut. Frankie Boucher said that in all his years under the big top it was the first time he had even seen a team clicking at top form from the goalmouth out.

"Often two or three men are 'hot' and that is usually enough to make a team a winning one," he said. "Right now every man on our club is red hot and I don't see how any thing can stop us."

Rudy LaDitzi Wrestles Here

Will Meet Steve Strelch in Main Event on Mat Card Saturday Night

Rudy LaDitzi, rough and ready grappler from New York, who generally plays the villain role in his bouts, will return to Victoria to appear in the headline event on the wrestling show at the Tillicum gym Saturday night.

Hollywood's Steve Strelch has been secured to oppose the battle-scarred LaDitzi in the main event of the semi-main attraction of five eight-minute rounds. Local wrestlers will engage in an interclub match. Draw and starting times, with the Macaulay Point players first mentioned, follow:

8.45—N. Wallace and E. Wright vs. F. Painter and R. F. Cox. 8.50—R. P. Morgan and F. Morgan vs. H. E. Allen and H. Pretty. 8.55—W. McDonald and R. Hadfield vs. J. Sangster and C. Banfield. 9.00—H. Livsey and P. Nobbs vs. P. McQueen and W. Marshall. 9.05—E. T. Rance and W. Allen vs.

Swimming League Gains Autonomy

Complete Charge of Island Activities Vested in Local Association Gala Planned For April 26

The Vancouver Island Swimming League last week was granted local autonomy by the British Columbia section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association. The action, taken at a week-end meeting in Vancouver, virtually gave the league control of swimming on the island and the right to settle its own problems without appeal to the provincial branch.

In addition to conferring wide powers on the island group, the decision of the B.C. group to let the league run its own affairs amounted to a gesture of implicit confidence in the organization as it is now composed.

At the same meeting R. W. Hibernson, president of the league, was re-elected delegate to the B.C. section, and Frank Hyslop, past president of the island group, was named delegate to the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

SEEK TRIALS HERE

The meeting formally requested the right to hold Canadian trials for the British Empire Games in Australia at the opening of next year in British Columbia in December. Matters covering voting powers of coaches in the league were left with other domestic questions which have previously been submitted to the provincial section for rulings.

The league will hold its next gala, a city championship event, on April 26. Archie McKinnon, Frank Hyslop and Ralph Alcock, coaches of the three city clubs, were requested to draw up the programme.

OAK BAY GOLF

Mrs. A. Watson finished with a card of 92-14-78 to lead A Class in the women's monthly medal competition held at the Victoria Golf Club. Mrs. C. W. Pangman turned in a score of 103-29-74 to head B Class.

POSTPONE FIELD TRIALS

Due to lack of birds and backward weather, the field trials scheduled for Sunday by the Victoria Gun-Dog Club, have been postponed.

MACAULAY TO PLAY AT VALE

With Norm Wallace and Eric Wright, Esquimalt lead-off pair meeting Freddy Painter and Dick Cox in the feature match of the day, Macaulay Point golfers will invade the George Vale course on Sunday to engage in an interclub match.

Draw and starting times, with the Macaulay Point players first mentioned, follow: 8.45—N. Wallace and E. Wright vs. F. Painter and R. F. Cox. 8.50—R. P. Morgan and F. Morgan vs. H. E. Allen and H. Pretty. 8.55—W. McDonald and R. Hadfield vs. J. Sangster and C. Banfield. 9.00—H. Livsey and P. Nobbs vs. P. McQueen and W. Marshall. 9.05—E. T. Rance and W. Allen vs.

Hoyle-Brown In Six-point Loss

V.A.C. Annual Session Tonight

Annual meeting of the Victoria Athletic Club will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in The Colonial boardroom. Election of officers and presentation of reports for the first year's activities by the club will feature the session. President Jack McKenzie will occupy the chair. All members are requested to attend.

Victoria Champions Drop 31 to 25 Decision to Vancouver Spencers in Senior B Men's Coast Final Basketball; Spencers Meet Summerland For British Columbia Title

Vancouver, April 8.—Vancouver Spencers qualified today—for the second time—to meet Summerland, interior finalist, for the British Columbia men's senior B basketball championship. They defeated Victoria Hoyle-Brown 31 to 25, in a sudden death game here last night.

Spencers previously defeated Alberni, but was game was thrown out as the British Columbia Amateur Basketball Association and the island body upheld a protest by Hoyle-Brown against Alberni, in the island final and ordered a replay which the Victorians won.

Spencers meet Summerland tomorrow night in Summerland, and Saturday night in Port Moody, in a two game total-point series for the provincial title.

Victoria opened the scoring on Jack Caddell's free-toss. Their lead was short lived, however, as Mernie Alexander looped a long shot to put the Vancouver squad ahead. Noel Morgan put the Victorians in the lead for the last time when he flipped a short toss into the basket.

GET BIG LEAD

A quick assortment of field baskets and free sots by Harold Jacobson, Alexander and George Sellers gave the storemen a 9 to 2 lead, before Victoria caught again. Half time score was 20 to 6 in favor of the mainland squad.

The Victoria boys made their big bid to even the count early in the second half when they bagged five successive baskets without a Spencer reply. Levy, Caddell, Campbell and Robertson were the respective marksmen. Robertson counting twice. With the score standing at 20 to 16—after Victoria's ten-point rally—Bill Woods of Spencers and Billy Levy of Hoyle-Brown alternated on the next two baskets. Another field goal by Woods and one by Jacobson, followed by three penalty markers and a field goal by Alexander offset a great rally by George Robertson, Victoria forward. Robertson scored ten points to carry off scoring honors.

Teams and scores follow: Victoria Hoyle-Brown—Jack Caddell (3), Lloyd Jones, Noel Morgan (2), Frank Elliott, Bill Levy (5), George Robertson (10), Gordy Patterson, Pete Campbell (8), Ken Fleming (2), Les Bradley. Vancouver Spencers—Mernie Alexander (8), Basil Sands (2), Len Leach (3), Cliff Walker, Battersby, Hal Jacobson (6), George Sellers (5), Bill Woods (6).

Baseball Gossip

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Paul Dean took the mound against Brooklyn today in the final game of the training season at Daytona Beach. The St. Louis Cardinals begin the homeward trek Friday.

Sarasota, Fla.—Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirate holdout, and the National League's No. 1 batter last season, left for Dallas, Texas, to confer with president William Denwenger. Friends said the outfielder sought $500 more than was offered.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Van Lingle Mungo, the Brooklyn Dodgers' ace right-hander, says he wants Randy Moore, utility player whom Burleigh Grimes has converted into a catcher, behind the plate when he pitches, instead of Babe Phelps, the first string receiver.

Oklahoma City.—The tip-off on the New York Yankees is the batting average and status of Roy Johnson, utility outfielder. He's hitting .420 with fifteen hits out of thirty-two times at bat, yet in the continued fusillade of Yankee hits, he's just another outfielder.

Port Smith, Ark.—Eighteen-year-old Bob Feller was named by manager Steve O'Neill to hurl the first three innings today against New York Giants, followed by Mel Harder, who was expected to go six.

BRADDOCK IS NOT 'FUSSY'

Heavyweight Champ States He Has Numbers of Both Louis and Schmeling

Associated Press

Stone Lake, Wis., April 8.—Whom would James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, rather fight—Joe Lewis or Max Schmeling?

It makes no difference to him. "Frankly," said Braddock today as he sunned himself in a big, wooden lawn chair, "the man I want to meet is the one who will draw the biggest gate, and that's Louis. I'm sure we'll be in the ring in Chicago June 22. My manager, Joe Gould, told me to do the training, and let him do the worrying over the threatened court action. That suits me."

Which fighter would be the easier opponent?

Braddock says there is a right way to fight each one.

"I have studied the styles of both, and I am convinced I've got their number," the champion smiled.

NO ROAD WORK

Braddock is disappointed in the lingering winter weather, conditions which have made road work impossible on the dirt roads leading to his camp on little Lake Sissabagam. The roads are almost impassable.

Trainer Ross Lippman put the clamps on road work for fear Braddock might again get an ankle. As a result Braddock works for two hours daily swinging his double bit ax on hard maples. He displays fine form, perfect aim, and tremendous power. Blisters, however, are developing on his hands.

Oaklands School Football Champs

G. Pretty and D. R. Hurdle, 9.10.—J. Simpson and R. A. Simpson vs. R. Peden and G. Carwright. 9.15—W. G. Watson and P. Brown vs. D. W. Spence and E. Brachet. 9.20—C. F. Brown and H. S. Morgan vs. D. G. Sutherland and J. G. Thompson.

9.25—H. Thompson and H. Clark vs. D. W. Morry and J. P. Phillips. 9.30—G. A. Bruce and G. Wilson vs. A. T. Hunkin and C. P. Banfield.

K. OF P. TAKE BOWLING TITLE

Defeat Kirkhams and Electrons For Fivepin Honors at Olympic Alleys

Spilling the pins in great style, the K. of P. A bowling team yesterday evening won a five-game playoff to win the Commercial Fivepin League championship at the Olympic Alleys.

At the end of the fourth game the Knights were a bare seven pins up on Kirkhams. In the final session, however, the K. of P. bowlers surged well to the front to finish with a handsome total of 5,245. Kirkhams was second with a total of 5,033 and the Electrons third with a 4,553.

G. Davies, ace trundler for the K. of P., registered the best individual five-game total with a 1,201, and was high for a single game with a 340. The wind-up social and presentation of prizes will be held in the alleys on April 17 at 8 o'clock. It will be held in conjunction with the Senior Fivepin League wind-up, which is also slated for that night. A good gallery of bowling fans were on hand last night to watch the playoff.

U.S. Davis Cup Team

New York, April 8.—Walter L. Fife, non-playing captain of the United States Davis Cup tennis team, said today the American squad for the first round zone match against Japan would be made up of Don Budge, Frankie Parker, Robert Riggs, Joe Hunt and possibly Gene Mako. S. B. Wood and Bryan (Bitter) Grant also were invited to become members of the squad to meet Japan, but business forced them to decline.

Rookie Blanks Seattle Squad
Indians Beaten 7 to 0 in Coast Baseball; Three Extra-inning Battles

Oakland, Calif., April 8.—Ernie Bonham, twenty-year-old pitcher sent to the Oaks by the New York Yankees, turned in a four-hit performance here last night and the Oaks whitewashed the Seattle Indians, 7 to 0.

Bonham retired nine of the Indians on strikes.

Lew Blair led the Oak offensive by connecting for two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Hal Turpin, Seattle hurler, held the Oaks to only one hit during the first five frames, but was hit hard during the remaining three innings, and the Oaks pushed over six of their seven runs on eight hits.

San Francisco, April 8.—Portland won a ten-inning game from the San Francisco Seals, 5 to 4, yesterday when left fielder Steve Coscarat boomed out a long fly to score John Frederick and break up the extra-frame engagement.

Frederick had singled and taken third on Bedore's single.

Opening of the game was marred by an accident in which Ernest Pelks, forty-one, local commercial photographer, was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Rex Cecil, Portland rookie hurler.

Pelks was snapping a picture when Cecil let fly with a wild pitch. He was warning up for batting practice mound work. The former's skull was believed fractured. He was taken to a hospital for examination.

Cecil, a Los Angeles youth, is to be farmed out to Vancouver, B.C., of the Western International League.

Radio Licenses Over 1,000,000

Canada Press

Ottawa, April 8.—Some persons prosecuted for non-payment of radio license fees pay quietly and others go to their members of Parliament. Transport Minister C. D. Howe told the House of Commons yesterday evening.

He was answering a question asked by Gordon Graydon, Conservative. Peel, Ont., who thought more notice should be given radio owners before prosecuting.

Mr. Howe said all radio set owners received two written notices and a personal call before they were prosecuted. Besides, there were notices broadcast over the air when license fees were due.

"We collected over 1,000,000 license fees last year," he said. "The net revenue after collection costs was $1,900,000. We prosecuted about 2,000 cases and of these about 1,500 paid quietly while the other 500 went to their members of Parliament."

MANY ENJOY FINE RECITAL

Ethel and Otto Luenig
Please Large Audience in Empress Hotel Ballroom

By G. J. D.
In novelty and interest, combining a chamber music atmosphere of earlier musical periods, the recital given by Ethel Luenig, soprano, and Otto Luenig, flutist, at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening proved most delightful.

In their respective spheres their technique and artistry are built on solid foundation and they know full well, from close study and much rehearsal, the nice colors and contours of the music they so well evoke, with voice and flute beautifully commingling.

They, too, have the knack to catch the glow of the moment, where the significance of the words and music are wedded, and the intentions of the composer, rare but important essentials, are given full values. There was nothing fidgety at any time, everything flowed along evenly in such a manner that gave utmost pleasure, spontaneous applause following every number.

THE SINGER
Ethel Luenig has all the ingredients of a platform artist. Her very opening number, an exacting air from Mozart's "Apollo et Hyacinthus" (a Latin comedy with music, written by the composer when eleven), charged with the magical melodies of Mozart's freshness and spontaneity, was a precursor of all that fell to her lot. It was singularly difficult in point of projection and finely executed in the diversifying vocalises, in all of which she made a distinguishing impression, with a soprano voice of most pleasing liquid quality.

THE FLUTIST
Otto Luenig is an excellent musician. He accompanied the singer and played the flute with exquisite taste and technical skill. His first number was a sonata by Handel, an example of this composer's expressive simplicity in melody, originally written for the recorder of the Tudor period. His talk at the piano, together at times with his flute, he gave some sketches of English, continental European and American folk lore, tracing the Faust legend to an old Nova Scotian folk tune, used later by Gounod and others. Mr. Luenig should become an authority on Canadian folk music.

But the most enjoyed, perhaps, were the groups by contemporary American composers, the singer and flutist commingling with finished performances the different characteristics of the writers. The "Lark" by Henry Leland Clarke, English composer, for voice alone, and Robert McBride's humorous "Nonsense Syllables" were outstanding, meeting with continued applause. "The Hebrew Scene" group, also of four numbers (arranged by Marjory Kennedy Fraser), sung by Ethel Luenig, completed the thorough enjoyment of these entrancing groups.

The recital was given under the auspices of the Victoria Musical Arts Society and the hotel management.

MARKET NOTES

The marketing board has finally reduced potato prices in Victoria, paralleling its action in Vancouver, local wholesalers announced this morning. At the reduced prices, No. 2 potatoes will cost wholesalers 40c a ton or $2.20 a sack. They will sell to retailers at $2.20 a sack and to the consumer at $2.50 to $2.75 a sack. The marketing board quotation for No. 2 potatoes was formerly 40c a ton here.

Local field rhubarb is now on the market. Small quantities of local spinach and cauliflower are also on sale.

The price of asparagus is reasonable at fifteen cents a pound or two pounds for twenty-five cents.

Ward One Liberals will meet to-morrow night at 8 o'clock at Liberal headquarters. The business meeting will be followed by a social evening.

VETERANS TO STAGE DANCE

Local Soldier Clubs Select Committees to Aid in Preparations For Affair

Committees were selected by local branches of the Canadian Legion at special meetings in their clubrooms Tuesday evening to make arrangements for the dance to be held at the Crystal Garden on May 11 in conjunction with the local Coronation celebrations.

It is being staged under the auspices of the district council of the Canadian Legion.

The committees and the branches they represent are as follows: Britannia Branch, R. Burns, H. Butters and L. G. Scott; Naval Veterans, H. R. Dawe, George Renton and P. Blues; Pro Patria Branch, J. F. Fox, Collins, J. A. McCall and J. Fox. D. G. Holmes was appointed the Britannia Branch delegate to the local committee of the Veterans' Assistance Commission. The branch will hold its church parade at the Metropolitan Church on May 16, with R. Knight and H. Thompson in charge or arrangements.

Plans for the holding of the smoking concert to commemorate the battles of Zeebrugge and Ostend to be held in the Naval Veterans' clubrooms on April 23, were completed at that branch's meeting.

Haircut Prices To Go Up Soon

Higher Minimum Wage
Starts June 14 For British Columbia Barbers

Minimum wages for barbers will be raised on June 14, and the price of haircuts will go up at the same time.

The Victoria barbers will meet on April 26 to take definite action and J. A. Green, secretary, indicated they would consider restoring haircut prices to the former level of 50 cents. Standard rate now is 35 cents.

The Board of Industrial Relations issued an order today raising the minimum wage for British Columbia barbers from $15 to $18 a week. The minimum for part-time barbers (those who work less than forty hours a week) will go up from 40 cents to 45 cents an hour, and they will be guaranteed a minimum of four hours per day.

The board today also promulgated an order for public housekeeping occupations in summer resort hotels. This specifies that employees may be worked up to ten hours a day, but must be paid time and a half for all work over four-eight hours in one week up to fifty-four hours, which is the maximum they may work in a week.

This order is effective from June 15 to September 15, and applies only to resort hotels in unorganized districts. It is designed to meet emergency conditions where summer guests arrive unexpectedly and must be given service.

MEASLES ON WANE HERE

The epidemic of mild measles, which spread from Saanich into Victoria early this year, appeared to have moved into Oak Bay as conditions in the city improved this week.

While figures could not be secured, it was understood Oak Bay grade schools have shown a pronounced reduction in class attendance as the result of the illness which struck Monterey Avenue more seriously than the Willows. At the latter institution a majority of children were reported back at their lessons, while most of those affected at Monterey are expected to resume their studies in another week. The peak of the spread of the mild epidemic was reported to have been reached during the Easter week-end in Oak Bay.

In the city the disease appeared to be dying out with only seventy-six cases reported last week and only fifty-six so far this month. A few scattered cases of mumps were reported in Victoria, but the number was not sufficient to cause any grave concern.

Shows Scenes of Coronation

E. E. Richards Tells of Beauties of British Isles

Three hundred lantern slides showing beautiful views of Canterbury, Manchester, Windsor, the Isle of Wight, the Scottish Highlands, Edinburgh, and parts of Ireland, were shown to a large audience at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening by E. E. Richards.

Specially prepared slides of scenes made interesting by the coming Coronation were also shown, and Mr. Richards accompanied the pictures with a description of the coronation ceremonies.

He pointed out, while showing pictures of the Coronation regalia, that the actual crowning was not the highlight of the ceremonies. The consecration and anointing with oil was the most interesting and ceremonious part of the procedure.

The crowning was the climax of a magnificent religious ritual including the litany and holy communion, Mr. Richards said.

Rev. G. R. V. Boulster was chairman. A Jackman and Mrs. Sherratt sang two solos, accompanied by Miss Moore.

Destroyers At Halifax Today

Canadian Press
Halifax, April 8.—Three of Canada's four warships steamed into Halifax harbor today. Escorted by the destroyers Skeena and Saguenay, the newly-purchased destroyer St. Laurent entered Canadian waters for the first time.

A Royal Canadian Air Force seaplane dipped in salute above the little flotilla as whistles of vessels in port boomed welcome.

The St. Laurent and the Fraser, now on her way to the British Columbia coast, were purchased from the British government and have been engaging in naval manoeuvres with the British West Indies fleet off Bermuda.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—The National Defence Department today announced the following appointments and promotions:

Lieut.-Commander W. B. L. Holms, appointed to H.M.C.S. Skeena, additional as staff officer to captain "D." R. Dawe, George Renton and P. Blues; Pro Patria Branch, J. F. Fox, Collins, J. A. McCall and J. Fox. D. G. Holmes was appointed the Britannia Branch delegate to the local committee of the Veterans' Assistance Commission. The branch will hold its church parade at the Metropolitan Church on May 16, with R. Knight and H. Thompson in charge or arrangements.

Plans for the holding of the smoking concert to commemorate the battles of Zeebrugge and Ostend to be held in the Naval Veterans' clubrooms on April 23, were completed at that branch's meeting.

Harbor Charges Still Too High

Chamber of Commerce Feels They Might Be Increased
Slightly Without Trouble

Agreement that harbor fees in force before the first of this month were ridiculously low and might have been raised slightly without any complaints from trade or shipping interests, but that they were too high under the new regulations was expressed at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this morning.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, yesterday amended the regulations, lifting fees on booms of logs and reducing the charges on vessels going to any port to load bunker coal, but left the same harbor dues for ships arriving from sea.

It was also pointed out that ships arriving from Great Britain were in the majority, and therefore subject to dues of 4 cents a ton.

MUST STAND AT PRESENT
Mr. Howe's latest message on the subject reads: "Charges as recently gazetted apply to all Canada and must stand for present as amended for log booms and vessels bunkering, but your letter will be carefully considered with a view to further changes in the tariff if your suggestions can be applied to all Canada."

A letter from Mr. Howe, written last week to the Chamber of Commerce, said in part: "The necessity of dues arose through difficulty of obtaining the qualified harbor masters with the scale of fees formerly in force. Only two or three of the harbor masters throughout Canada were able to collect the fee to which they are entitled by statute, with the result that at many points we were unable to provide this service to the shipping interests."

"The new schedule of dues is considerably lower than in force for United States harbors, and is based on a reasonable charge for the service rendered by our harbor masters. The officials of this department have studied the situation carefully and have convinced me the new schedule will mean no loss of business to any Canadian port."

Duncan MacBride and Harold B. Elworthy, who represented Victoria at a protest meeting in Vancouver Tuesday morning, presented their reports.

The meeting agreed to work in collaboration with the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange and to meet again tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock to hear further reports.

The meeting agreed to keep Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., posted regarding developments.

MARRIED FOR SIXTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blackaller to Celebrate Tomorrow

Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blackaller of 2565 Margate Street, celebrate their diamond wedding.

They were married in the Congregational Church, Barnstable, Devon, England, on April 9, 1877, and came to Canada in 1889, when Mr. Blackaller joined the accounting department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in which service he remained until his retirement as assistant auditor of agencies in 1920, when he and Mrs. Blackaller came to Victoria in 1923.

Both have been life-long believers that the Celtic-Saxon people are descendants of the Israel peoples of the Bible, and at the formation of the British-Israel Federation, Canada, Inc., the honor of the presidency was conferred on him, which office he has held up to date.

Their many friends in Victoria will unite in congratulations to them on attaining the sixtieth anniversary of happy marriage, which they will spend with their son in New Westminster.

Schreiner, London, England. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at McCall Bros' Funeral Home at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Daniel Walker will officiate, and interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

FEWER NEED ASSISTANCE

Oak Bay Friendly Help Reviews Active Year; Officers Re-elected

An encouraging decrease in the number of families requiring assistance, reflecting the improvement in economic conditions, was noted in the report read by Mrs. Chas. Hudson, secretary-treasurer, at the annual meeting of the Oak Bay Friendly Help Association, held yesterday afternoon at the Municipal Hall. Mrs. R. R. Taylor, the president, was in the chair and there was a gratifying attendance of interested friends.

Miss A. Bradshaw, Oak Bay school nurse, paid tribute to the excellent work accomplished by the society, testifying to the help given in the shape of cover oil and dental work for the children, new shoes, invalid food and wood and coal to homes where there had been sickness. Capt. W. Ellis, representing the Oak Bay Council, and Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunn thanked the society for its splendid work.

The officers and committee were returned as follows: Hon. president, Mrs. W. J. Goepel; president, Mrs. R. R. Taylor; first vice-president, Mrs. C. Maconachie, who succeeds Mrs. R. W. Mayhew; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Hudson; committee, Mrs. S. J. Drake, Mrs. E. M. Brown, Mrs. L. W. Woodhouse, Mrs. H. A. Bradshaw, Mrs. W. W. Barnes, Miss A. Goward, and Mrs. C. H. Hinkins, who replaces Mrs. F. Barber-Starkie, retiring representative for St. Mary's Church.

Dr. D. M. Duncan, of the Council of Social Agencies, addressed the gathering on the community chest idea, answering constructive criticisms made and showing that business women and housewives found a budget plan the most effective method of financing. He recalled, from his seventeen years' experience in Winnipeg, that "all men and women who work together for a common cause make for harmonious citizenship." The speaker was warmly thanked for his address.

ACTOR KEEN ON WESTERNS

Will Live as Long as There Are Kids, Says Robert
Allen, Movie Star

"As long as there are kids there will be Westerns," said Robert Allen, Columbia star who is playing the male lead with Sheila Bromley in "Murder Goes North" for Central Films Ltd., expressing his preference for western roles as he struggled to get into a Canadian Northwest Mounted uniform in his room at the Empress Hotel this morning.

His real name is Irvine E. Theodore Baehr, and he is a native New Yorker, thirty-one years old and with three years' experience in the films and his career ahead of him.

Under a seven-year contract with Columbia, Bob Allen was loaned to the Larry Darmour Company, for which he is taking the lead in a series of eight "westerns," five of which have been released, the last being "The Ghost Ranger."

Others were "The Unknown Ranger," "Ranger Courage" and "Rio Grande Ranger."

The actor flew from Hollywood to Seattle.

"As I stepped off the boat yesterday afternoon I thought 'what a beautiful city.' I felt I was on familiar soil again for four years ago I was playing in the stage production 'As Husbands Go' at His Majesty's Theatre in Montreal," he said.

He played stock after graduating from the New York military academy and piloting prospective purchasers in the air for the Curtiss Flying Service. He found the stage his natural bent.

It was after appearing in the Belasco stage production "The Greeks Had a Word For It" at Los Angeles that Mr. Allen turned to pictures.

Some of his lead pictures he quoted as follows: "Lady of Secrets," with Ruth Chatterton; "Crime and Punishment," with Tala Birell, and "Black Room Mystery," with Marian Marsh and Boris Karloff. He has also played opposite Fay Wray and Nancy Carroll. He was with Col. Tim McCoy in a western last year.

Spencer Bennett, director for Larry Darmour, is one of the finest directors in the business.

When Bob Allen caught sight of Frank McDonald, who is directing "Murder Goes North," he let out a whoop of joy. He last saw Frank five years ago when they played stage together at the Lakewood Theatre, Skowhegan, Maine.

No Word Yet On Refund Proviso

The British bondholders' reaction to the proposed city amendment to the Fortin civic refunding scheme, study of which was scheduled in London today, could not be ascertained at a later hour here.

The British committee was reported to have set Tuesday and Thursday of this week for study of the matter, but any decision it might have reached would probably be delayed in its arrival in Victoria through consideration by Toronto before being passed along to this city.

Many enjoyed the card party at Victoria West Social Club, 414 Skinner Street, Tuesday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. Crossman, Mrs. E. Johnson, Mrs. W. Patterson, T. Watt, Mrs. Scafe and W. G. Hook.

"WHITE FANG" AT THE PLAZA

Jack London's Successor to His "Call of the Wild" Opens Here Today

The lawless north country, vibrant with romance and drenched with drama, once again flashes across the screen in "White Fang," Jack London's thrilling sequel to his "Call of the Wild," which opened at the Plaza Theatre today.

Featuring an exceptional cast, headed by Michael Whalen and Jean Muir, and including Slim Summerville, Charles Winninger, the original "Cap'n Henry" of radio fame, John Carradine, Jane Darwell and Thomas Beck, "White Fang" is a stirring story of adventure ranking with the screen's greatest outdoor dramas.

"Ten Minute Alibi," with Philip Holmes, is the second picture.

Joe E. Brown Will Be Here Tomorrow

Hilarious comedy is provided by "When's Your Birthday?" which will open an engagement tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre, with Joe E. Brown.

Brown is seen as an "occasional" prize fighter who adopts this means of paying for a course in astrology. Later he refuses to marry his sweetheart, Suzanne Kaaren, because she has selected a date which conflicts with the favorable aspect of his birth planet. He lands a job as a fortune-telling astrologer in a midway concession operated by Fred Keating, where Miriam Marsh is also working. Predicting the outcome of a race, Brown enables Minor Watson, a "big-shot" gambler, to make a winning bet, and the latter promptly engages the three as his private staff for predicting the outcome of sporting events.

"A Man Betrayed," the Republic film starring Lloyd Hughes with Eddie Nugent and Kay Hughes, will be the second picture.

OUTDOOR FILM AT THE ATLAS

"God's Country and the Woman" Is By James Oliver Curwood

"God's Country and the Woman," Warner Bros. brilliant picturization of the James Oliver Curwood novel of the same name—dealing with a feud between lumber companies in the deep forests of the Great Northwest—opens today at the Atlas Theatre, with George Brent and Beverly Roberts in the leading roles.

The thrillingly dramatic romance of the story is heightened by the fact that the scenes—almost all of which are in the open—were photographed wholly in natural colors.

"The Devil Doll" At The Oak Bay

Lionel Barrymore brought his infallible artistry in new guise, serving incomparably in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Devil Doll," which opens at the Oak Bay Theatre today.

The elder genius of the gifted Barrymore family plays a role that would be peculiarly arresting by a competent actor. Portrayed by him, it is truly remarkable.

In this story of a half-mad scientist who evolves a scheme that threatens all humanity, that first appeared as a novel which A. Merritt titled: "Burn, Witch, Burn," the distinguished Barrymore is a paradox of kindly scientist and fiendish villain.

Frank Lawton, playing the romantic lead opposite Maureen O'Sullivan, combines with her to weave an adventurous love element in the strange story of a human revenge.

The second feature is "A Night at the Opera," with the four Marx Brothers.

Costumes for "Silent Barriers," the Gaumont-British railway construction drama starring Richard Arden and Lilli Palmer, provided some curious problems.

The G.B. Dress Department scoured London in vain for genuine "Mackinaw" — the thick woolen jacket, in huge check designs, familiar in so many pictured lumber camp scenes. Mackinaw shirts were obtainable, but none of the real belted Mackinaw-jackets. Eventually the coats had to be specially sent from Canada.

TAKING OVER FOREIGN POST

After thirty years in the British consular service in China, Sir John Brennan, K.C.M.G., C.M.G., consul-general at Shanghai, is returning to London to take over an important post with the British Foreign Office.

He arrived here today by the Empress of Canada and is staying with friends in the city before going on to England.

For the last seven years Sir John has held the office of consul-general at Shanghai, but his service in China dates back to 1905, being transferred from Siam. Up to 1914 he was acting vice-consul and pro-consul at Tientsin and two years later was transferred to Foochow and later to Peiping. He served with the Chinese labor corps in France and resumed his work in China in 1918, when he became acting consul at Nanking.

He subsequently became acting commercial secretary at Shanghai, acting consul-general at Shanghai and Canton and in 1929 resumed the post which he is now relinquishing to enter the Foreign Office.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel!"

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1937

According to astrology, this should be a fortunate day for men and women who have faith in themselves as well as in their stars. While Jupiter smiles, adverse influences are active.

The morning is fairly promising for those who seek employment or engage in any sort of promotion work. The stars indicate delays that will end fortunately. Labor continues under sinister direction of the stars which are in the direction of the sun. The seers declare that the golden rule should be employed in measuring human relations.

Great activity in real estate in many parts of the country is prognosticated. Speculation should be avoided, but home-owning is under a favorable sway.

Clouds are to be ominous and peace movements numerous through this month and next. For this reason astrologers counsel caution in financial matters.

This is a lucky day for men who lead by mental domination. Educators, lawyers, clergymen and statesmen are under good planetary guidance.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fortunate financial transactions. Rewards from past investments and work are prophesied for many.

Children born on this day probably will be mentally and physically courageous to the point of recklessness. Subjects of this sign are fond of leadership and many seek public service.

Efrem Zimbalist, violinist, was born on this day, 1892. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Paul Robeson, singer, 1898, and James T. Heflin, United States Senator, 1889.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I desire to be a good wife to my husband. How can I be a companion to him and keep him interested and amused? I greatly appreciate your advice.

Answer: There is no more fool-proof rule-and-you-cannot-fail recipe for being a companionable wife than there is for making a sponge cake. It is something that should grow naturally out of the relationship of husband and wife since they have so many common interests in their struggle to make a fortune, their children and their home.

Unfortunately this is not always the case. Often the very things that should bind them together separate them. The man becomes so absorbed in his business that he lives in a different world from his wife's. She gets so wrapped up in the children that she has no time for her husband or interest in his hopes and plans. And so he goes his way and she goes hers until they become such strangers that they haven't anything to say to each other.

All human relationships perish if they are neglected, so if you want to be chums with your husband you must be willing to make the effort and take the trouble to cultivate his society. And begin to do this just as soon as you are married. Half the battle is getting off to a running start.

Before you were married you listened to him by the hour when he talked about himself, his automobile, his business; reminisced about his youth and his college days and whatever other topics were dear to his heart. Don't, as soon as you are married, yawn in his face and tell him that you have heard all of that a thousand times. Lend him an ear and give him a glad hand. What every man really marries for is to get a claque.

Many a woman shuts the door of her husband's confidences when she looks bored when he tells her something about his business, or when she interrupts his pet story to say: "Look how cute the kitten is acting."

If you want your husband to chum with you, you have to be interested in the things that interest him. You must enjoy doing the things he does. You must be willing to grab your hat and go when he wants to step out, or spend the evening cheerfully at home when he is tired and wants to sit by the fire. No doubt this requires sacrifice on the wife's part, but you have to pay for everything you get in this world, and a husband who thinks you are the best possible company is worth whatever it costs.

Most husbands and wives are companionable until the first baby comes. It is the arrival of Junior, when the woman becomes all mother and no wife, that marks the beginning of their alienation from each other. The young mother has no thought or interest in anything but the youngster. She reads nothing but baby books and has no conversation except about baby formulas. She won't step out for fear the baby might get uncovered while she is gone, no matter how many nurses and grandmothers there are to watch him. She doesn't try to amuse and entertain her husband and she is glad when he goes out alone so she may be left undisturbed to her infant worship.

She doesn't realize until twenty years later, when the baby is grown and has left her, that she threw away the companionship of her husband that she might have had if she had given him one-tenth of the devotion and understanding and sympathy that she has given her children.

As for keeping a husband entertained and amused, that can't be done in the sense of a wife putting on a perpetual show for her husband. No man wants her to do so. What he wants at home is peace and quiet and a wife who reads and goes about and keeps up with things and who is an entertaining and pleasant companion with whom to spend an evening.

DEAR MISS DIX—While attending a coed university I became engaged to one of my classmates. Now after five years I have met another girl with whom I have fallen in love. This time with a man's mature love, not a boy's puppy love. Please tell me the right thing to do. I am sure in a t.g. and utterly miserable.

Answer: The honorable thing to do is to tell your coed girl that without any fault of yours you have outgrown your youthful romance, that you no longer love her and do love another woman, and ask her to release you from your promise. That will give her a chance to save her face, but if she refuses to do so, break the engagement yourself. Under no circumstances marry her, for that will bring misery to all three of you.

It is a hard thing for an honorable man to refuse to marry the girl who has waited five years for him. It makes him feel like a welcher, but he would do a far more dishonorable thing and a more lasting injury to the girl, if he did not tell her of his change of heart and married her letting her believe that he still loved her and desired her, or if he let her force him into a marriage that both knew was loveless.

No man can be a good husband if he marries a woman he has outgrown and is tired of even before their marriage. And particularly can no man be happy or make his wife happy if he loves another woman. He will hate her because she stands between him and his heart's desire and show it in a thousand ways that will make her life a torment to her. No woman can have a crueler fate than to be the wife of a man who has married her from a sense of duty and obligation. Save your old sweetheart from this unhappy lot by breaking the engagement.

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife is unfaithful to me. Gets drunk and makes public exhibitions of herself. For the sake of the children do you think I should stand it?

Answer: No. I think the children should be removed as quickly as possible from such a corrupting influence.

Five Great Rivers of Europe

IV—THE SEINE

Not quite thirty-five years ago, two Americans—an author and an artist—reached the city of Havre aboard an ocean vessel. Across the sea they had brought a machine which they wanted to use for touring in France.

It was an automobile, not a common kind of machine in those days. There was some worry as to how to get it off the vessel, but this problem was settled when half a dozen sturdy sailors picked it up and carried it down the gang-plank. The weight was about 1,200 pounds, far less than that of a modern automobile.

Before being given a license, the author was put through tests. He went around a corner, and barely missed striking a flock of sheep. A few moments later, he put on the brakes with all force, and stopped just in time to miss running into a flock of geese.

Thus proving his skill, the American was given his license, and drove forth to make a dream come true, to drive along the beautiful valley of the Seine River. In telling what a fine little automobile he had, he later said, "It traveled so well that we were able to pass over the top of a hill at the flying speed of twelve miles an hour."

Today thousands of motor cars pass along the roads on either side of the Seine, en route from Havre, the seaport, to Paris, the capital. The motor-ists go through Normandy, one of the fairest parts of France. All about them in spring or summer they may see crops growing in the valley, which is blessed with rich soil. Many other persons travel up and down the Seine aboard steamers.

The most famous part of the Seine is that which runs through Paris. Broad streets and fine public parks extend along the banks in some sections of the city. The grounds of the Louvre stretch for half a mile along the river. The Louvre at one time was part of the French king's palace, but now it is a museum and art gallery, visited daily by people from many countries.

An island in the river is known as the Ile de la Cite, and this island was settled more than 2,000 years ago by a tribe of Gauls known as "Parisii." While the Romans held power over France, the settlement was called Lutetia, but later the name was changed to Paris, in memory of the Parisii.

On that very island today stands the most famous church in France, the cathedral of Notre Dame. It was finished about 600 years ago, after men had labored on it for a century and a half. Strange-looking animal figures decorate upper parts of the cathedral, and are known as "gargoyles." (Copyright 1937, Publishers Syndicate)

Famous Old Liner Starts New Career

Ss. Majestic to Train Boys For the Royal Navy; Former Luxurious Apartments Torn Out to House 2,000 Men

London, April 8. — Once proud queen of the ocean steamship lanes, the old White Star liner Majestic has escaped the shipyard wrecker and henceforth will serve as an auxiliary unit of His Majesty's navy.

A floating palace of her day, the Majestic was withdrawn from regular trans-Atlantic service some time ago and consigned to the scrap heap. This plan was halted, however, and the ship drafted for special service.

The liner was completely overhauled, altered and refitted and will launch on its new career, renamed H.M.S. Caledonia, and serve as a training establishment for boy-seamen and artificer apprentices.

TO TRAIN 6,000
The Caledonia has been converted to house 2,000 north country boys until the big shore training school at Rosyth is ready. This will take three years to build, and as a boy's training only lasts a year, the ship will be the gateway into the navy for about 6,000 youngsters before 1940.

Almost the only parts of the ship that have not been altered are the engine room and the Pompeian Pool. The former social hall and French restaurant on A deck have been turned into a vast gymnasium and recreation room. Cabins on B and C decks have been reconstructed into big classrooms, while cabins on D and E decks have been torn down to make way for sleeping hammocks.

GREAT SICK BAY
If a cadet falls ill, there is the largest sick bay in any ship in the world. It is equipped to take care of 40 patients simultaneously, and nearby are dental parlors with the most modern equipment.

For the instruction of the boys, guns have been mounted on what used to be the third class promenade deck. The mast has been fitted for instruction in climbing and the wireless cabin enlarged, for up to 200 boys will be attending signalling classes daily.

It is expected the first batch of boys will join the Caledonia about the end of April.

Commander and Mrs. Massy Golden Passengers Aboard Ms. Canada

Vancouver, April 8.—The Danish East Asiatic Line's Ms. Canada, en route to London from Vancouver, and the freighter Hoegh Hood, were in collision yesterday off Beachy Head, Sussex, England, according to word received by the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange.

The message said both vessels were damaged, but gave no details. Commander and Mrs. Massy Golden of Victoria joined the Ms. Canada at San Francisco with their two daughters and a maid. Other passengers on the vessel include Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Pegate, Mrs. J. G. Butterfield and her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Gee and Mrs. M. E. Neville.

The Adriatic Star, the largest seaboat ever built on the British Columbia coast, will be launched at the Bellingham shipyard here last Friday. The vessel is seventy-five feet long, has a twenty-foot beam and is powered with a 160 horsepower Diesel engine. She is owned by Walter Carr and partners.

Two other vessels, both somewhat smaller than the Adriatic Star, will be launched at the same shipyard shortly. One of these is the same length, but has a nineteen-foot beam, while the other is sixty-eight feet long and sixteen feet wide.

Pasco, Wash., April 8.—Friends of a flying brother-sister pair said today Spencer Gray, forty-four, Seattle attorney, and Mrs. Mary Bunker, thirty, airplane crash victims, braved bad weather in an attempt to reach their dying father at Viola, Idaho, near Moscow.

Carrying a will they had drafted for their father, the pair crashed to their deaths near here yesterday evening in a rented all-metal new sports Ryan two-seater plane piloted by Gray. Mrs. Bunker was the wife of another Seattle attorney.

Motor trouble developed, witnesses said and Gray circled the city for twenty minutes apparently taking bearing of a cleared field which he mistook for the airport.

The plane went into a side-slip, hit the ground, nosed over and smashed both wings. Gray was dead when removed from the wreckage and his sister died on the way to a hospital.

E. R. Weller, Seattle advertising man, who owned the plane, said Gray had told him he would not make the trip until the weather was good.

Gray had been a licensed pilot for several years and flying was his hobby.

Compromise Amendment On Dominion's Advances Sought in Senate

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 8.—The Senate today sought a better approach to passage of the government's bill to recapitalize the Canadian National Railways after reaching a virtual deadlock over a proposed Conservative amendment. Debate on third reading of the bill was postponed yesterday after Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, had offered to seek a compromise amendment that would satisfy both sides of the chamber.

His offer came after Senator C. P. Beaulieu, Montreal Conservative, had moved for attachment to the road's annual balance sheet of a footnote stating the aggregate amount of the proprietor's equity and the Dominion's contribution as well as a supplementary schedule showing the detail.

Senator Dandurand protested this was the same resolution which Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, had told the Senate railways committee Tuesday was unacceptable. He urged the road should not have its balance sheet "blackened by past history."

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, expressed appreciation of Senator Dandurand's offer and said his previous suggestion for an amendment along lines of Senator Beaulieu's had met with an obdurate attitude on the part of Mr. Howe.
